OLD DOMINION CASE BEFORE COMMITTEE

Washington, March 15.—Fees aggregating $225,000 were paid Louis D. Brandeis for his services in litigation connected with the Old Dominion case, Charles S. Smith of Boston, president of the Old Dominion Copper and Smelting Company told the Senate Brandeis investigating committee today. The directors considered they got their money's worth, he said.

Smith charged that William F. Fitzgerald, a Boston stockbroker, who testified yesterday against Brandeis, tried to wreck the Old Dominion Copper Company. He defended the concealment of an engineer's report on property value, declaring the directors suppressed the report because the engineers made only a superficial investigation in the interest of Fitzgerald.

The committee expected to close the hearings after inquiry into Brandeis' connection with the Boston Gas Company merger cases.

MAYOR WARNS ALL WALTHAM CLUBS

Patrolman William E. Stone of the Waltham Police Department was today appointed liquor officer, as a result of the agitation over the so-called club liquor evil. Mayor Eben J. Williams and Chief of Police James McKenna have notified all the clubs in the city that no more liquor shall be sold, and it will be the duty of Officer Stone to see that the law is enforced.

Latest War Bulletins

London, March 15.—Advices from Rome today state that Austria has declared war against Portugal as a result of the seizure by the Portuguese authorities of Austrian ships interned in the ports of Portugal. Earlier advices from Vienna announced that the Austrian Minister at Lisbon had been directed to ask for his passports.

Washington, March 15.—The Austrian embassy here today filed a formal memorandum with the State Department, alleging the entente allied submarines had torpedoed two unarmed Austrian passenger steamers without warning. The steamers were the Daniel Erno and the Zagreb. The attacks occurred in the Adriatic. The memorandum stated that both vessels escaped by skilful manoeuvring.

Athens, March 15.—French troops have occupied the Greek island of Mourto.

Amsterdam, March 15.—Allied aircraft have attacked Essen and Munich, according to the Telegraaf. The Krupp factories are at Essen. Six buildings at Essen are said to be destroyed.

Paris, March 15.—It was announced here today that the French losses at Verdun have been only one-fourth of those inflicted upon the attacking Germans. Recent Paris reports have put the German losses at Verdun as high as 200,000.

London, March 15.—The German army in German East Africa has been decisively defeated by British forces under General Smuts and is retreating in disorder, it was officially announced today.

NEW REVOLUTIONS REPORTED IN CHINA

Washington, March 15.—New revolutions have broken out in China, according to dispatches received at the Navy Department today from Admiral Winterhaller, commanding the Asiatic fleet. Rebels, he reported, are planning an attack in force on Luchow and fighting is in progress in the provinces of Chichiang and Hunan.

MRS. OLMSTEAD SEES HUSBAND AT JAIL

Irving E. Olmstead, who shot and killed Mrs. Violet Mooers, a Winter street manicurist, was visited by his wife at the Charles street jail today.

There was every evidence of affection between wife and husband. Tears were in her eyes when she left the jail, but during the talk she did not break down and her husband laughed with her several times.

She told her husband of her plans for his defence. It is believed that the defence will be insanity.

Olmstead told his wife and jail officers that he did not intend to shoot to kill Mrs. Mooers.

"MAD INFATUATION."

"I really never intended to kill her," said Olmstead. "I'm going to bear up for my wife's sake. I feel for her and the children. I'm sorry for what I did. I cannot explain why I did it. I suppose it was mad and indescribable infatuation for her that prompted me to shoot.

"When the time comes I'll be able to prove that I did not buy the revolver for the purpose of shooting Mrs. Mooers."

Olmstead passed a quiet night. He slept soundly at the Charles street jail. Within a few feet of his cell window is the North Grove street morgue, where reposed the body of his victim. He did not know about this, however. He was well pleased with the treatment accorded to him by Sheriff Quinn. He is a pleasing conversationalist and spends much of his time when allowed talking with the guards. He smokes and reads the newspapers.

It was noon today when Olmstead was visited by his wife and her brother, Dr. Gordon W. Tait. The Washington, March 15.—Nearly 20,000 additional regular troops for service in the Mexican campaign were placed at the disposal of President Wilson today. The Senate passed the joint resolution, which was adopted in the House yesterday, authorizing the President to recruit all army organizations up to full war strength.

The resolution means the addition of about 20,000 to the authorized standing army. The resolution will be submitted to the President at once for his approval.

SINK LINER AT PORTLAND TO STOP FIRE

Portland, Me., March 15.—The strike of the local longshoremen was today blamed for a fire in the Metropolitan pier freighter Herman Winter, moored below the sinking of the vessel and a $250,000 cargo.

According to Agent Herbert A. Clay, the cargo laid so long because of the strike that spontaneous combustion resulted. Tons of water were poured into the vessel's hold without extinguishing the blaze.

The Herman Winter arrived in this port Sunday with a cargo of sulphur, soda and cotton. The fire broke out in the after hold and the local fire department and fireboats were summoned. The tug Portland assisted in pumping water into the steamer.

After several hours' work, it was decided to tow the craft into the stream. Captain Warren arrived in a launch just as the lines were being cast off, and took command. The Winter was towed to a point near Bug Light and her compartments filled. The bow is the only part of the vessel now out of water.

The steamer ran for years from Boston to New York.

CARRANZA GENERAL SLAIN BY MUTINEERS

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—The first revolt of Carranza troops against the American expedition has occurred. A large body of Carranzistas at Ojinaga, across the border from Presidio, Texas, has mutinied, killed its commander, General Rojas, and will join Villa in opposing the American advance into Mexico.

The Carranza garrison at Palomas, opposite Columbus, is also reported to have revolted. The Mexican soldiers, several hundred strong, are said to be on their way to join Villa.

A detail from the Thirteenth U. S. Cavalry has been rushed to Presidio from Marfa, Texas, to guard against an attack on Presidio by the revolting Carranzistas. Presidio is on the Rio Grande about 175 miles southeast of El Paso.

Confirmation of the mutiny and the assassination of Rojas has been received by telephone advices to Marfa.

Rojas was trying to control his men, who were drinking and threatening to invade the United States, when he was shot from the crowd, according to the report.

It was reported to the El Paso chief of police today that 5,000 Carranzistas had attacked the Seventh U. S. Cavalry at Hachita, thirty-five miles west of Columbus, and had taken the town after a battle. This story turned out to be untrue.

Border Aroused by Rumors of Mexican Hostility as U. S. Begins Villa Hunt

PERSHING THOUGHT TO HAVE STARTED INVASION

It is confidently believed, but not confirmed, that 4,500 American cavalry have crossed the border into Mexico from Columbus. This force is understood to be commanded by Colonel George A. Dodd and to consist of portions of the Seventh, Eighth, Tenth and Thirteenth Cavalry and two ambulance corps and a field hospital corps.

Advices that General Pershing's troops had crossed the line and that the pursuit of Francisco Villa had begun were received from several different points. Practically all agreed that the advance had begun before dawn. A telephone message from Columbus that reached El Paso at 2:30 a. m. said that the American forces had broken camp. The sender of this message said that he was unable to give any further information owing to the censorship.

Reports of the advance were generally accepted here as correct. Major-General Funston had given general Pershing authority to move when ready. It was pointed out here that a start might be made early this morning would have the cavalry section sent in advance of the infantry and artillery an opportunity to strike well into the hills south of the border before sunrise.

AEROS AT COLUMBUS.

Official announcement of the beginning of the march into the Southern republic is not expected for several days, or until the government censor felt the news could be given correct. Correspondents selected to accompany the troops left El Paso yesterday afternoon for Columbus, but they were not permitted to send any message from there.

The first aero squadron of the army, commanded by Ben D. Foulois, reached Columbus last night. The machines for the aviators are now being set up at Pershing's base, but they probably will not make their first reconnaissance until Friday.

The exciting rumors as to possible resistance by Carranza forces gave El Paso many thrills during the early morning. All streets in the city were patrolled by guards armed with rifles and revolvers. The guards were numerous in the Mexican quarter.

Juarez declared that the Constitutionalist troops would co-operate with the Americans, but declined to state how this co-operation would be effected. Andreas Garcia, the Carranza consul in El Paso, announced that the troops under General Bertani had been withdrawn from San Palomas, opposite Columbus, last night, but would give no reason for the action, whether volunteers or taken at the request of General Pershing.

PUBLISHER ARRESTED.

Fernando Gamiochipi, owner of the official Carranza organ in El Paso, the Newspaper El Paso Del Norte, was arrested last night and will be arraigned this afternoon. Copies of the paper printed for distribution today were confiscated. Gamiochipi today declared his arrest an outrage, but the authorities said that an inflammatory article in the newspaper owned by him was sufficient basis for his detention.

This article called upon all Mexicans to defend the country against the "common enemy," meaning the United States. The tension that prevails as to the Carranzistas will not be lessened until General Pershing makes an official report as to the manner in which his forces are received in Mexico.

General Alvino Obregon, whose appointment by General Carranza as Minister of War was caused by the announcement that General Pershing would enter Mexico, is expected in Juarez Saturday to take command of the Carranza hunting force and engage in a race with the American troops for the capture of Villa.

The arrival of Obregon in Juarez will bring the Carranzista campaign into a formidable position. If Villa hates any man more than another that man is Obregon. It was Obregon who beat Villa in Celaya, Obregon is the right man in the Carranza government. Obregon would take a keen personal satisfaction in capturing Villa and personal satisfaction is a great factor in the warfare of Mexico.

CARRANZISTAS CONFIDENT.

There is small doubt that his immediate order will be that Villa be taken dead or alive at once. The Carranza chiefs declare that their warriors can get Villa in ten days, but their claims that they have Villa trapped are received with some reservations here. There are six Mexican generals in the field against Villa, Rafaelo Buelnado, Jose Cavasos, Benjamin Garza, Luis Herrera, Pablo Bertani and Gutierez.

They cover an immense territory and there are great gaps between the 1,200 troops of each command. Through these gaps Villa might not have great difficulty in taking his forces out of the trap, who can squeeze his command through a narrow Mexican street and shot his way to liberty ought to have little trouble getting through the "Iron Ring" that leaves hundreds of miles unguarded.

Villa is taking his cavalry over ground at a rate that shows his remarkable driving forces. From the reports of his actions it is apparent he is averaging forty miles a day with his outlaws, nearly a hundred of them mounted on United States artillery horses driven off in the Columbus raid. Villa has been known to make ninety miles a day.

2,000 Mexicans Flee Before 350 U. S. Men

By International News Service.

New York, March 15.—John Lewis Childs of Floral Park, L. I., who witnessed the massacre at Columbus, N. M., has just returned, and told a thrilling eye-witness story of the affair. He said:

Our train was approaching Columbus when we heard the firing and saw the smoke from the burning village. The engineer halted and we waited in the train, fearing the worst.

There was not a gun of any kind on the train. So far as we could learn. Several women and children were aboard. We had been somewhat fearful of a raid while we were going through the country.

We did not know at that time that Villa headed the marauders.

MACHINE GUN JAMMED.

Mr. Child said they could distinctly hear the crashing of the United States machine gun. Then it suddenly ceased. He later learned that it had jammed. This was denied in official circles, but Mr. Childs was told by residents of the town that it had jammed. He continued:

Later on we saw the bandits leaving. First a few appeared. These rode away in full flight, followed by ever-increasing numbers. We then realized they were in full flight, and I can tell you there was a general sigh of relief when we saw the entire force fleeing as fast as they could. About a mile behind was a mere handful of our cavalrymen in pursuit.

There was little firing from our men. They rode with grim determination. The bandits constantly turned and fired. Their shots were occasionally answered by our men, who rode in good order like a well-oiled piece of machinery.

I thought several times what would happen if the bandits should turn and give fight to our troops, who seemed so few in number. But the Mexicans were evidently only too anxious to get away. Finally we saw them disappear, with our boys in close pursuit.

When we finally pulled into Columbus, I saw, at least, fifty bodies lying about. Tat-one was Colonel Slocum. He said his men numbered three hundred and fifty, while those of the bandits were at least two thousand.

A general attack seemed directed at the home of United States Customs Collector Riggs. He had barricaded his house and there were thousands of shots all over it.

RUSH RECRUITING TO FILL ARMY RANKS; MORE MEN GOING TO BORDER

was south from the New Mexican border, the War Department withheld official announcement early today.

There was no mistaking the air of expectancy among the officers on duty. They plainly expected a record deal on the part of the punitive expedition, which now must engage in a race with the Carranzista soldiers. Confidential advices from the border show that Carranza now has more than half his army tracking Villa and his officers are bending every effort to get him before the American forces reach the scene.

The censorship over the operations on the border will be made absolute today. Because of the danger of attempts to cross and attack isolated American posts or settlements, General Funston has spread his men all along the line. At certain places these forces have been made very strong because of secret information carried to the War Department by agents of the Department of Justice.

START UP RECRUITING.

It was stated that the response to the orders to recruit the army to full war strength will probably be the greatest in the States along the border. Nearly every recruiting office in that section has a long list of eligibles, and they will be sent for at once.

There will be no attempt made to drill these green men together. Instead all will be sent to the border army posts, where troops now are, and incorporated with the well-trained units already on duty. In this way the recruits will become immediately available for service as they will be hedged in on every side by men who know the ropes. The result will be that the new men will know the duties of a soldier in far less time than ordinarily is required.

This action in increasing the regular army was done to prevent any calling on the National Guard. The administration has been under the strongest pressure from nearly every State in the Union to accept at least some of the local troops for action. To make a selection would have proven difficult and at the same time would have aroused jealousy that might have proven a serious matter later on.

REGULAR ARMY FIRST.

As a result the President has decided that until every resource of the regular army has been exhausted no other steps will be taken. So long as only regulars are moving along the border, the anti-American agitation probably can be held in check by Carranza. But if the guardsmen go to the front the motive is likely to be misunderstood.

There still are approximately 15,000 coast artillery men available for field service. These men could be started for the border within twenty-four hours, as their provisional organization has been arranged and their equipment is ready. All that will be needed to get them in motion if they are needed on the border will be the transportation and this now is being made ready for an emergency.

Meanwhile the activities of "revolution promoting brokers" in this country are causing officialdom concern. Agents of the Department of Justice are looking for General Felix Diaz, who is reported to have again slipped into this country. The department has heard that he is en-route to New York to confer with Mexican leaders there.

REASSURE MEXICANS.

By orders of the State Department, every consular agent in Mexico is today for his island to reassure the people regarding the intentions of the United States. Secretary Lansing's public statement "on behalf of the President," is being translated into Spanish and spread broadcast.

BANDIT'S DIARY REVEALS HOW VILLA PLOTTED MASSACRES

By WALLACE SMITH.

El Paso, Texas, March 15.—Pancho Villa's most cherished secrets, the secrets that have made the outlaw chief's career such a long one, are in the hands of the State Department at Washington today. In all probability they will be a most important guide to the expedition that is ordered to run down the bandit leaders. The secrets were revealed in a diary taken from the body of Pablo Robles, Villa's prime assassin, after Robles was killed during the massacre at Columbus.

The diary is a handbook of slaughter and loot, an astounding revelation of the inside life [illegible] of the Villa forces. But it is not as a human document that the book is important to the State Department and the army.

Jotted in Spanish notes are the [illegible] that have enabled Villa to defy law, order and humanity in the northern hills. They discover the hidden trails over which Villa led his men when pressed. They show where his cannon were hidden and they disclose the names of the men who are smuggling arms as well as those who are acting as his agents along the border.

The dark pages of the book also tell of plottings that preceded the Santa Ysabel massacre, when eighteen Americans were taken from a train and slaughtered, and the Columbus raid. For ten days, the book indicates, Villa planned the Santa Ysabel outrage. On the day chosen he and a detachment of men were in the foothills, another detachment was fifteen miles away, the second attachment stopped the train bearing the Americans to see if there was armed escort aboard. They it wigwagged to Villa. Assured that there was no fear of ambush, Villa unleashed his assassins.

The contents of the diary were turned over to the government by Indians who found it on the body of Robles and Ojinaga, declared they were intercepted at two different times by Villa bands, who seized all their guns, ammunition, saddles and extra horses. The last time they were held up was about fifty miles southwest of Ojinaga. They declared the bandits said their headquarters were at Arua Chili. The leaders of the bands, which numbered about sixty men each, announced they intended to make an attack on Presidio within a few days, they said.

U. S. TROOPS BATTLE BANDITS ON BORDER

By H. H. STANSBURY.

El Paso, Texas, March 15.—General John J. Pershing, at the head of the cavalry division designated to start the hunt for Francisco Villa, completed plans last night to cross the border today.

The rush with which the final arrangements for the expedition were closed was conceded to be an answer to a demand made by Carranza representatives for a further delay.

General Pershing returned to El Paso yesterday morning from Columbus, at the request of the Mexican authorities, for a conference with Luis Gutierrez, commander-in-chief of the Carranza forces in Chihuahua. Gutierrez urged in the name of Venustiano Carranza, that the American troops keep out of Mexico for two weeks longer.

He declared that five converging columns of Carranza soldiers within the time stated would have Villa trapped and that this would eliminate the necessity of the punitive expedition of American troops.

TURNS CARRANZA DOWN.

"My orders have been to catch Villa and I cannot delay execution of my instructions," said General Pershing.

"We have five columns of troops, 1,200 men in each column, and they are closing in on Villa from as many directions. He cannot escape," said the Carranza general.

"It is too late," said General Pershing.

"It will cause much ill-feeling on the part of the Mexican people," said General Gutierrez.

"The only suggestion I can make is that your diplomatic service take the matter up with Washington," said General Pershing.

The Mexican military head returned to Juarez and attempts made here to gain further detail of the conference with General Pershing were unavailing.

Late yesterday afternoon General Gutierrez left Juarez for Las Palomas, where General Bertani has 6,000 Mexican troops, and General Gabriel, commander of the Juarez garrison, of 1,000 men, again assumed command of the race track town.

VILLA MOVING SLOWLY.

The Carranza columns after Villa, according to General Gutierrez, are led by Generals Luis Herrera, Rafael Maldonado, Benjamin Garza, Jose Cablasos and Colonel Cano.

Villa, according to General Gutierrez' dispatches, is forced to move slowly because he is carrying a large number of wounded. Ninety-eight of his men, according to the same source of information, are mounted on United States cavalry horses taken at the Columbus, N. M., raid, and two machine guns from the Columbus camp are in the Villa train.

The report that General Obregon, Carranza's new Minister of War, was on the way to Juarez was officially denied by Consul Garcia.

Collector of Customs Cobb has received information that the two Mormon colonies near Casas Grandes are now together. A train has been held in waiting for several days to remove the Mormons, but the Carrancistas have refused to start for the border, fearing it would be intercepted by Villa.

AMERICANS RETURNING.

A train bringing Americans from Chihuahua City was expected to arrive last night. There was at that time no information here as to who the Americans were nor how many there were in the party.

All trains moving north yesterday were loaded with officers returning to their commands. They made eager inquiries as to whether any troops had yet crossed the border.

The afternoon also saw the departure of a number of newspaper correspondents who are accompanying the Pershing expedition. Some were veterans happy over the prospect of new adventures. The newcomers were also joyous but seemed more interested in studying the map than they made eager inquiries as to whether any troops had yet crossed the border.

The afternoon also saw the departure of a number of newspaper correspondents who are accompanying the Pershing expedition. Some were veterans happy over the prospect of new adventures. The newcomers were also joyous but seemed more interested in studying the map than in the prospects of getting news.

Among the well known newspaper writers in the party were:

Damon Runyon, the well known sporting writer, humorist and war correspondent, who will represent the Hearst newspapers and the International News Service.

George H. Clements, New York Sun.

Byron G. Utecht, New York World.

Floyd H. Gibbons, Leon Starmont and F. H. Jacobs.

MEXICANS LOOT STORES.

With the expected crossing of General Pershing's brigade into Columbus, disorder along the border was shown again in a number of places. At Fabens, thirty-five miles east of El Paso, two companies of infantry, assigned to patrol duty, reported attempts of a small groups of Mexicans to loot stores and gas supplies.

In one running battle with a band of twenty bandits, a squad of troopers captured eight Mexicans who attempted to make a stand on an island. The Mexicans put up a fight until their ammunition ran out and then surrendered with a plea for their lives.

Railroad Detective Charles Bulger sighted fourten Mexicans armed with rifles and carrying full cartridge belts, in an adobe hut on the Santa Fe tracks, two miles from El Paso. He notified Lieutenant Shellenberger of Fort Bliss and two squads of the Eighth Cavalry were sent to the hut. They surprised the Mexicans and captured them without firing a shot.

Each prisoner had 1,000 rounds of ammunition in addition to his rifle, and a majority of them carried one or more pistols. All were lodged in the El Paso jail.

VILLISTAS JAILED.

They are in company with a number of well known Villista officiers who have held commissions under Villa, in Carranza's army. Among these are Generals Jose Ysabel Robles, Carlos Jauroud, Carlos Amuitos, Emilio Salazar, Felipe Ortega, Tostado, former chief of police of Chihuahua, and Antonio Medinaveita, father of General Medinaveita, and Don Orozco, a cousin of the general of that name who was executed years ago by American ranchers, is another of the prisoners in the city jail.

Naco, Ariz., according to dispatches here, spent a sleepless night, with women and children in the schoolhouses, under guard, and armed citizens and Texas rangers patrolling the town.

El Paso is practically under martial law. Members of the provost guard walk the streets, with rifles over their shoulders, instead of the "clubber sticks" they have carried heretofore.

SEARCH MEXICAN HOUSES.

In the Mexican quarters every Mexican house is searched every day for arms and ammunition. In one house in South El Paso street two dozen unsung rifles and 1,100 rounds of ammunition for each gun were found, three guns were confiscated, and the house owner, Pablo Orto, put in jail.

Clerks in every store in the city have been sworn in by the municipal against possible raid, and following fights between civilians and Mexicans, a majority of the men of the city are carrying pistols under their coats.

A strong censorship has also been established at Columbus, where General Pershing and the troops have been quartered, and it was reported that the censorship would be extended to El Paso and other border towns with the arrival of Brigadier-General George Bell, Jr., who will assume charge of the soldiers at Bliss and other points in the Fort Bliss district some time today.

Photographers and moving picture cameramen have been barred from the lines at Columbus and General Pershing has established a rule to talk only to the accredited war correspondents whose credentials from the War Department entitle them to accompany his column when troops move across the border.

TROOPS ON THE WAY.

Dispatches from Galveston told of the entrainment of the Twenty-third Infantry, making them the first in Texas. They were to go into camp at Fort Bliss, on the ground formerly held by the Sixteenth Infantry, transferred to Columbus. The Eleventh Cavalry, from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., is at Little Rock, Ark., temporarily encamped on the fair ground, and would not arrive until tonight. The Twelfth Cavalry from North Dakota are due to arrive tonight. No reports had been received at Fort Bliss last night as to the arrival of the Fifth Cavalry from posts at Fort Myer, Va., and Fort Sheridan, Ill.

U. S. Likely to Seize Munitions

By International News Service.

Washington, March 15.—In preparation for a lengthy campaign in Mexico the administration has taken steps to place the United States army on a full war footing. A resolution urged by President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker, adding 15,847 men to the army, was put through the House with but one dissenting vote.

The new troops will be used to replace those taken from the border forces to go after Villa, and to fill out all mobile troops at interior points to war strength.

Anticipating favorable action on the resolution by the Senate today, the War Department last night sent telegraphic instructions for recruiting officers to proceed vigorously with enlistments.

This will increase the army strength to 118,099 men, exclusive of the quartermaster and hospital corps.

Two other resolutions bearing on the Mexican situation were introduced in Congress. One of these, by Representative Britton of Illinois, would authorize the recall of troops now in the Philippines for service in Mexico. The other, by Representative Cary of Wisconsin, would authorize the commandeering of all arms and munitions of war in the country.

The resolution presented by Representative Cary is as follows:

Whereas, serious danger threatens the United States on the southern border; and,

Whereas, there is an apparent shortage of munitions of war in all the various branches of the naval and military services of the United States, as revealed in the official reports and statements made to the various committee of the Senate and House of Representatives, and,

Whereas, it is of the utmost importance that the United States be prepared at all times for any attack by a foreign power, therefore be it

Resolved: By the Senate and House of Representatives, in Congress assembled, that the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy are hereby instructed to take possession, on behalf of the United States, and to hold all arms and munitions of war now within the territorial limits of the United States, and be it further

Resolved, that the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to pay for such arms and ammunitions so seized, upon the report and valuation of five military and five naval officers and five disinterested citizens of the United States, to be appointed by the President, with the approval and consent of the Senate of the United States.

Carranza's Foreign Minister "Pleased" by U. S. Concession

Washington, March 15.

This is United States Consul Silliman's message from Queretaro announcing the delivery to the Carranza government of the American note of agreement on reciprocal rights in crossing the border:

"Reply of United States to de facto government's note of March 10, Columbus border situation, received at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Personally presented this important communication orally and in writing to Foreign Secretary Acuna at 5:30 p. m. He read same in my presence, and afterward said:

"'I am pleased to receive a reply of this character from the government of the United States. It will relieve the very delicate situation that has developed, owing to the Columbus affair.

"'I will immediately transmit this reply to the Chief Executive, and am of the opinion that there will be a reply to this curteous note expressing appreciation of same.

"'In this event I shall deliver it to you immediately for transmittal to the government of the United States.'

It was plainly evident that the reply created a most favorable impression."

Obregon to Lead Carranza Troops.

By International News Service.

El Paso, March 15.—General Obregon, Carranza's newly appointed minister of war, today was reported on his way to Juarez ready to take the field in command of the Mexican troops that will rival the American soldiers in their pursuit of Villa.

General Obregon started from Queretaro, according to the report, when it became certain that Brigadier-General Pershing was ready to cross the border.

The arrival of Obregon in Juarez will bring the Carranzista campaign into immediate action. If Villa hates one man more than any other, that man is Obregon. It was Obregon who beat Villa at Celaya.

Obregon is the big man in the Carranza government. Obregon would take a keen personal satisfaction in capturing Villa and personal satisfactions are a great factor in the warfares of Mexico. There is no doubt that his immediate order will be that Villa be taken dead or alive at once.

Obregon had agreed with the Carranza move for more time to allow the Carranza troops to wipe out Villa before the American soldiers cross the border. The Carranza chiefs declare that their warriors can get Villa in ten days.

While there is small reason to doubt that the Carranza chiefs would like to round up Villa, and although the Carranza chiefs declare they have Villa trapped, it is reasonable to consider the situation carefully.

There are six Mexican generals in the field against Villa, Rafael Maldonado, Jose Cavazos, Benjamin Garza, Luis Herrerra, Pablo Bertani and Gutierrez. They cover an immense territory and there are great gaps between the 1,200 troops each command.

Through these gaps Villa might not have great difficulty in bringing his men. The man who can squeeze his command through a narrow Mexican street and shoot his way to liberty ought to have little trouble getting through the "iron ring" that leaves hundreds of miles unguarded.

U. S. MUST PREPARE, WARNS COL. GLENN

By International News Service.

New York, March 15.—Colonel Edwin F. Glenn, U. S. A., chief of staff of the Department of the East, which is commanded by General Leonard Wood, gave a sensational analysis of the military situation of the United States in this regard to Mexico, Europe and Japan.

He characterized the system of armament as idiotic in a lecture at the prominent business men, guests at dinner of the Sphinx Club in the Waldorf-Astoria. He said:

"Four or five days ago the United States was threatened with the announcement that Villa, recognized landit, had crossed the border and made a violent assault in the early morning hours on a station occupied by American soldiers. We have been occupying the frontier of Mexico and this for four years.

"We have two-thirds of the army of the United States on that border. Reinforced from Brownsville to Los Angeles. In other words we have about 22,000 American soldiers there.

"You have a count line of at least 20,000 miles of Yankee soldiers at every point practically, except where we have some barbed wire fences, and these are supposedly manned by one relief, though they are not manned by one relief, which is another of fact.

CAN RAISE 200,000 MEN.

"Tell me how we are going to meet 1,000,000 soldiers under the conditions that confront us. We can raise, according to our volunteer system, 140,000 men in the regular army, perhaps 200,000 militia.

"If you raise it beyond that figure you run to the figure that you have got to have in order to meet any such force, to meet the first shock, the price is going to be prohibitive.

"Why? Because like a lot of idiots we have been living under what we call a volunteer system of enlistment, and that means that we have got to go out in the open market and compete with every industry in order to get the necessary men. And the industries are thriving now to beat the band. We cannot meet them under this system and could not afford to do so.

"There is only one common sense article, and that is to adopt that is to train the youth of this country, and you want to commence on them when they are young.

WHY GERMANY SUCCEEDS.

"You sit down and how about Germany? Germany's success has succeeded in this war because she has got every element organized. Other nations have accomplished the same results only on a small scale, having a militarism. But you have got to train these boys and put them all on the same basis. That is the only commonsense way in which you can prepare a national defense absolutely.

"It takes fifteen days to mobilize the army of Germany, and on account of the tremendous distances to be covered by the railroads it would take thirty days, mobilize your militia, and ninety days to get your regulars up to the front and then they would not be up to the top notch. It would take one day, however, to mobilize Germany.

"If we should go into war tomorrow with Mexico we would be tremendously expensive, because we would have to pay those fellows who ought to be in the munitions of war.

Preferring his references to Mexico, Colonel Glenn referred briefly to the European war and declared that the prospect was that it would last "half as much longer."

VILLA CURSED AMERICANS BEFORE HE GAVE RAID ORDER

By WALLACE SMITH.

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—General Villa halted his murdering outlaws eight miles from the border to address them before he led them to the massacre of Columbus, N. M.

He rode out before them and put all the violence of his nature into a fiery denunciation of the Americans. His whole life was in expectation that the fights of the sleeping town and whipped his followers on to the slaying.

As he reared out his denunciation, the men, who had been worn out by the long ride, became a hysterical, bloodthirsty pack of human wolves. They flung themselves on the ground, writhing and sobbing at the feet of their leader. They wept and howled as Villa poured out a rain of curses of Americans.

Finally he paused. There came a pause as they waited for his next move. Villa pointed to the distant lights.

"Go and kill," he cried. "Kill the gringoes."

BEGAN CREEPING MARCH.

With a shout they leaped to their feet and ran for their horses.

"Kill the gringoes," they cried. Villa lifted his arm. Once more they were quiet. Then the silent, creeping march began toward Columbus.

The dramatic story of Villa's address before the massacre was brought to the border today by Edwin H. Spencer, a negro scout, who has been attached to the army for duty on the expedition.

Spencer, who was an employee of the Warren & Stone ranch at Salto del Ojo Chihuahua, Mexico, had been taken prisoner by Villa a few days before the Columbus raid.

He escaped when Villa's retreat began and when Mrs. Maud Hawk Wright of Pearson, also got away from her captors. Spencer, fearing he would be mistaken for a Villa follower, fled to Hachita and then to Alamo Hueco, ten miles from the border.

While he was a captive of the Villistas, Spencer witnessed the execution of Arthur McKinney and William Corbett at Palomas ranch.

CURSED GRINGOES.

"They had been making one of these quick Villa raids," said Spencer, "they knew there was a Carranza force at Las Palomas. They made a detour there. When they had passed the town Villa ordered a halt.

"Then he came out in front of his men. He made one of the most frightful speeches I ever heard. He yelled to his men that the Gringoes were to blame for conditions in Mexico. He used every curse in his vocabulary.

"He told them that the United States was to blame for his defeat, when they allowed Carranza soldiers to go through the United States to reach Agua Prieta. He didn't talk long, but he talked plenty. Before he got through the men were crying, swearing and shrieking. They fell down on the ground and rolled around.

"They beat the earth with their hands and tore up handfuls of it. They just got crazy. He kept yelling at them and cursing the Americans. They were insane. He shouted to them to kill the gringoes. I hope I may never see such a sight again.

"Then suddenly he quieted them, and we began to march on Columbus.

MRS. WRIGHT WAS BRAVE.

"When they rode into the town I was kept behind with twenty Villistas, caring for the band's horses. I heard the shots and then the massacre came. I told one of the guards I thought I would run for it.

"He asked, 'you're free' he said I went as fast as I could until I was out of sight.

"Williams and McKinney were good friends to the Villistas because they were Americans. They had been working at the Warren & Stone ranch for years. The band was made up largely of men who had been employees of the ranch. Oh, they had no chance. Villa stopped the train and called Cruselas out to him.

KEPT PENNED IN CORRAL.

"'You've got a silk shirt on, Americano,' he said. 'It is long since I have had a silk shirt.' Then he shot Ornelas down.

"Williams, me and Hart and Rob and the other men penned up in a corral. Williams and Hart got some of his officers in Madero had been playmates of our sons. Hart begged Villa on each day could not save Hart. He took all our property and confiscated it and then we marched. As they reached El Paso most of the refugees went to the home of Mrs. Wright.

Among the other refugees were Mrs. and Mrs. S. G. Burns and daughter, Mrs. Maud Hawk Wright, Mrs. and Mrs. L. H. Double Guard at El Paso Bridge

By International News Service.

El Paso, March 15.—Doubling of the guard at the American end of the International bridges in Juarez caused a flutter of excitement over El Paso last night. The usual guard of two corporals or sixteen men, was raised to four corporals and thirty-two men, it was reported. The extra guard was ordered by the lieutenants in charge of the bridges, by the authorities at Fort Bliss.

Douglas, Ariz., March 15.—Half a million cartridges, consigned to General Calles, military governor of Sonora, have been seized here by United States officials.

Two hundred thousand arrived by freight and one army automobile. A heavy guard has been placed over them and the Carranza officials are trying to trace their owners.

American Army to Have Fresh Meat

By International News Service.

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—The American army will have fresh meat in Mexico. The horrors of the "embalmed beef" of 1898 have been eliminated.

Contracts have been completed between packing companies in Juarez and General Luis Terrazas, one of the richest cattle men in Chihuahua, whereby meat is to be killed daily on demand of the commissary department. Agents, acting for General Calles, military governor of Sonora, have been select here by Carter Stanley.

The commissary department is receiving and a daily total turned in for accounting and payment at the end of the expedition.

Similar contracts have been made between the army and the Las Palomas Cattle Company and the Corralitos ranch.

REFUGEES TELL OF RAIDS

By International News Service.

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—Prisoners of Villa's band had their first chance to tell their story today when the refugees from Chihuahua City, turned over with Villa and his entire force are moving on to El Paso today, safely across the border.

They started to leave at Juarez and were joined by the entire international bridge under the escort of American Edwards.

They reported a surprising condition of unrest in the Carranza garrison town of Chihuahua City itself in spite of Harrison Langhorn, the American consul at Chihuahua. Carranza troops of all descriptions are hurrying toward the border from the south, they said.

In the group of refugees were D. H. Cramer and his wife. The father and mother of Burt Cramer, who was killed by Villa's men on the battlefield of the cramer ranch at Madero, were also in the party. The father received word of the shooting of his son in exhilaration after the Villistas had captured Wm. the Cramers also

AN APPEAL.
I'm only a cavalry charger,
And I'm dying as fast as I can
(For my body is riddled with bullets—
They've potted both me and my mate),
And though I've no words to express it,
I'm trying this message to tell
To kind folks who care for the Red Cross—
Oh, please help the Blue one as well!

My master was one in a thousand,
And I loved him with all this poor heart
(For horses are built just like humans,
Be kind to them—they'll do their part);
So please send out help for our wounded,
And give us a word in your prayers;
This isn't no stranger or sword fight—
The Russians do it in theirs.

I'm only a cavalry charger,
And my eyes are burning quite dim
(I really don't mind though I'm "done for"),
So long as I'm going to HIM;
But first I would plead for my comrades,
Who're dying and suffering, too—
Oh, please help the poor wounded horses!
I'm sure that you would—if you knew.

REVEAL HEAVY FRENCH LOSSES AT VERDUN

London, March 15.—The communique issued by the French War Office today reveals for the first time that the French have lost all of Corbeaux forest, which has been the scene of terrific fighting northwest of Verdun.

The French communique announcing that the French hold Bethincourt, Dead-man's Height, the southern border of Cumieres forest and the village of Cumieres shows that the French line now extends south of Corbeaux forest.

While Paris report that the French still hold Dead-man's Height, Berlin says German troops occupy the crest of the Height.

The French line northwest of Verdun is now very irregular, as the result of the salient which the Germans have established south of Bethincourt.

Dispatches from Paris say that counter attacks by French troops during the night resulted in the recapture of part of the trenches taken by the Germans on the west bank of the Meuse yesterday.

HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING.

The French won their success in hand-to-hand fighting near hill No. 165, using the bayonet and grenades to drive the Germans from the trenches.

The text of the Paris communique follows:

"West of the Meuse the enemy made no new attack during the night on our front between Bethincourt and Cumieres. Counter-attacks with the bayonet and with grenades enabled us to reoccupy part of the trenches occupied yesterday by the enemy in the direction of Hill No. 265.

"We hold Bethincourt, the height of Le Mort Homme (Deadman's Height), the south border of Cumieres forest and the village of Cumieres.

"The bombardment has continued with intensity in the entire sector. our artillery replying energetically to that of the enemy.

"No important development was reported on the right bank of the Meuse in the Woevre region, where the cannonade has been intermittent on both sides.

REPULSED, SAY GERMANS.

"The night was calm on the rest of the front."

The Berlin office today announces that German troops have occupied the crest of Le Mort Homme (Deadman's Hill), northwest of Verdun. Capture of the height is one of the hardest blows dealt the French lines on the front northwest of Verdun, says the official announcement.

Four French counter attacks were launched, but the official statement of the German War Office announces that all were repulsed. Twenty-five officers and more than 1,900 French soldiers were captured by the Germans.

The Berlin report further says that advanced English positions in the region of Neuve Chappelle have been blown up with mines, the British suffering heavily. British artillery is again bombarding Lens violently.

The following is the text of the official report:

"West front—We blew up advanced English positions in the region of Neuve Chappelle, together with their occupants.

"The English are bombarding Lens heavily.

"French artillery has been very active against our positions at Ville aux Bois (northwest of Rheims) and also in Champagne.

"On the left bank of the Meuse (west bank) Silesian troops have pushed forward our lines west of Corbeaux forest to the heights of Le Mort Homme (Dead Man's Hill).

"Twenty-five officers and more than one thousand men were captured.

REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS.

"Four French counter attacks against our lines were all unsuccessful.

"On the right bank of the Meuse there has been a bitter artillery duel on the eastern slopes of the hills.

"From the Woevre district, French reconnoitring parties were repulsed.

"An English biplane has been shot down at Bapaume.

"Two more French aeroplanes have been shot down, one at Vimy and the other at Sivry. The occupants were dead.

"At Haumont a battle plane was shot down and the occupants were made prisoners.

"Eastern front.—There is nothing to report.

"Balkan front.—The positions are unchanged."

BREAT BATTLE FOR GORIZIA IS RAGING

By International News Service.

London, March 15.—Furious fighting is going on all along the Isonzo front, where a battle of almost first importance is developing. Gorizia is presumably the Italian objective.

The Italians, after a violent bombardment, according to a Rome dispatch, have carried out so strong an offensive that the Austrians have been forced to evacuate several advanced positions.

So serious has become the situation that three army corps (nine divisions) have been ordered to leave the Italian for the French front, have now been ordered to remain in the Tyrol.

The Austrian official report acknowledges the severity of the fighting, stating as an example of the determined character of the engagement that near San Martino the Italians stormed the Austrian positions seven times. The Forty-sixth Austrian infantry regiment was thrown out to meet the Italian attackers, and, after a continued series of hand-to-hand combats, drove back the Italians with heavy losses.

Describing other events in the battle, the Austrian official statement says:

"A great battle is developing on the Isonzo front. The Italians have attacked with strong forces, being repulsed everywhere."

Five U-Boats to Aid Turks.

London, March 15.—Five German submarines of 1,000 tons displacement are reported going to the Dardanelles on their way to the Black Sea to aid Turkey fight the Russian fleet.

WAR SUMMARY

A fresh kink is added to America's diplomatic snarls over the European war by information cabled by Ambassador Page from London to Washington concerning England's prospective reply to our protest against British seizure of American mails. England's answer is forecasted as practically a flat rejection of our contentions on the "principle of expediency."

The feature of the latest reports from the Verdun struggle was an official French statement that the Germans launched a powerful offensive northwest of Verdun, were repulsed along the whole front but did succeed in gaining a footing at two points between Bethincourt and Le Mort Homme (Dead Man's Hill). The French statement claims "serious losses" to the Germans. Berlin's report said "Generally speaking there was no change" in the western theatre.

In its noon communique today Paris announced the recapture of part of the foothold secured by the Germans.

Noel Pemberton Billings, the Royal Navy aviator who was elected to the British Parliament on the issue of "Get the Zeppelins," put it squarely up to the government leaders in his first speech in the House of Commons, to "show some speed," as a Yankee might express it. He said that there are machines and pilots enough. If Mr. Tennant, the undersecretary of state for war, did not believe, too, that England has bombs enough, the pugnacious aviator-member was ready to get all the bombs needed and pile them right up on the table of the House.

American horse dealers will note a statement by Mr. Tennant that England would buy no more Canadian and United States horses, as the War Office was able to provide for the wastage. But mules from abroad will still be needed.

Austria, in a statement from its embassy at Berlin, makes accusation, giving names and dates, that an allied submarine tried to torpedo two Austrian steamers in the Adriatic without warning and that only quick dodging saved the vessels.

In connection with the submarine question, it is reported from Christiana that the Norse government has asked Germany if it was one of the Kaiser's U-boats which sank the Norwegian bark Silius, with seven Americans on board. If so, Norway would like an explanation.

Italy reports gains on the Isonzo front, likewise Russia on the Riga front.

NEW CRISIS ON MAIL SEIZURE IS NEAR

By International News Service.

Washington, March 15.—Ambassador Page of London, it is learned, has cabled to the State Department sufficient information concerning the forthcoming reply to the American protest on the British seizure of mails to indicate that the United States is soon to face a critical juncture in its relations with Great Britain.

The answer is understood to have been practically a flat rejection by Britain of all the American contentions as officially reported as being "unsatisfactory."

There are now three acute issues with Great Britain:

1—Seizure of American mails on the high seas.

2—Invasion of American ships on the high seas to take off persons either of, or suspected of being of, German origin.

3—The validity of the English blockade, which embraces her extension of the contraband and her "enemy origin" decree.

GROWING IRRITATION.

The underlying principle of the American protest is that Great Britain not only violated international law by her acts, but has also violated the plain letter of the Hague conventions. Great Britain has replied arbitrarily she has jurisdiction in her own territorial waters, which officials say means that she can commit an international violation within her jurisdiction.

There is growing irritation in State Department circles over the failure of the British government to reply to the inquiries of this government regarding her right to take from the American ship China more than thirty German citizens when the vessel was near Shanghai.

Both Great Britain and France heretofore have released Germans thus taken off American ships without, however, admitting the contention they had no right to take them. Officials anticipate that she will hold that previous cases have no bearing on the case of the China.

NOTE IN MAIL.

Great Britain's answer to the note regarding the validity of her blockade is understood to be either en route or about ready for transmission. It will come by mail and is understood to be a flat justification based on "the principle of expediency."

As the government already is on record as considering reprisals unlawful, the British answer will force the United States to pass on the contention between Germany and England as to whether England is justified in excluding foodstuffs from Germany, and whether such exclusion is justifiedly based on Germany's submarine warfare.

Allies Torpedo Unwarned Ships, Austria Charges

Berlin (via Sayville), March 15.

ENTENTE allied submarines are following the practice abandoned by the Austro-Germans of attacking unarmed passenger ships without warning, according to an announcement of the Austrian Embassy here.

It was stated that a hostile submarine fired torpedoes, without the slightest warning, at the Austrian passenger steamer Daniel Kreo, February 13, and at the Austrian steamer Zagreb February 28, in the Adriatic, off Capo Planka, near Spalato, Dalmatia.

The statement added that these steamers, like all Austro-Hungarian merchantmen, were unarmed and escaped only by skillful manoeuvring.

4,000,000 MEN TO BE ARMED BY BRITAIN

By International News Service.

London, March 15.—An army and navy of 4,000,000 is provided for in the new estimates submitted to the House of Commons by Under Secretary of War Tennant. The estimates also includes three million pounds sterling daily for munitions.

Mr. Tennant stated that the provision of aeroplanes was now satisfactory, and even ahead of the supply of engines and pilots.

The Under Secretary of War dwelt at length, in his address to Commons, upon the question of enlistments and the supply of men. He stated that the government and the Minister of Munitions were considering especially the question of single men entering munitions of factories to escape military service. He said it would be impossible to take every single man out of the factories for use in the army before drawing upon the married men.

The difficulties experienced in keeping the recruiting at a high mark were explained at length by the speaker. Where, at the beginning of the war, he said, men concealed their physical defects in order to enlist, it now is the habit to feign defects in order to escape service.

Mr. Tennant further stated, much clearing com members thereby, that the success of the recruiting attestation system was a strong augury of victory.

ANOTHER ARMED ITALIAN LINER IN N. Y.

By International News Service.

New York March 15.—The Italian freighter Palmero is in port from Genoa today with two five-inch guns mounted on her after deck. All other Italian vessels have been equipped with the lighter three-inch guns and it was necessary to reinforce the Palmero's superstructure to carry the heavier armament.

During the voyage daily practice was held and eighteen rounds of ammunition used. The Palmero has on board two hundred rounds of ammunition which her captain said were to be used in case of submarine attack. Inspectors from the neutrality squad boarded the Palmero at her pier and submitted a report to Collector Malone to be forwarded to the State Department.

FINLEY J. SHEPARD FIRE VOLUNTEER

Pasadena, Cal., March 15.—Finley J. Shepard, who married Miss Helen Gould, answered a volunteer fire call by dashing to the fire and assisting workmen to save the house of art orname grove. Mr. Shepard received severe burns on his right hand.

United States Balanced Tires

At Last—
the 'Balanced' Tire

The greatest forward step ever made in pneumatic tires

On January 8th, in the Saturday Evening Post, we announced that at last we had made pneumatic rubber tires more like other dependable articles of merchandise.

Stop and analyze this statement—"more like other dependable articles of merchandise."

Unless backed up by results, it would be almost commercial suicide for a tire manufacturer to make such a statement.

Now we are ready to tell you the reason for this fearless confidence in our tires—the reason for the gigantic sales increases in our tires since September last.

Many months ago we finally worked out and began producing the completely 'balanced' pneumatic tire—the heretofore unattainable goal of every tire manufacturer.

To be 100 per cent. efficient, a tire must be absolutely 'balanced'—that is, the rubber tread and the fabric carcass of the tire must give equal wear.

'Balance' the tire maker's goal

To have perfect 'balance' the rubber tread must have enough resiliency to absorb road shocks that tend to disintegrate the fabric, and still must have the toughness to give long wear.

Too much toughness reduces resiliency—too much resiliency sacrifices toughness.

Full, complete tire efficiency demands a 50-50 'balance' of the rubber tread and the fabric carcass—neither may be stronger nor weaker than the other.

Problem: find the 'balance.'

Full rubber-tread efficiency demands a 50-50 'balance' of resiliency and toughness.

Full fabric-carcass efficiency demands a 50-50 'balance' of fabric layers and rubber—a union that will make tread-separation impossible.

This is the goal we have reached

By producing this complete 'balance' between resiliency and toughness in the tread, and between fabric and rubber in the carcass, we have secured 100 per cent. efficiency in United States Individualized Tires, or absolute 'balance' of wearing quality in both rubber tread and fabric carcass.

By September last, these absolutely 'balanced' United States Tires began to be sold on the market.

Since September, sales have increased steadily month by month up to the recent highest increase of 354 per cent.—this tells the story.

LLOYD'S LOVE FOR WOMAN TOLD IN SUIT; DECISION RESERVED

J. J. Kaplan of the firm of Brandeis, Dunbar & Nutter, counsel for John Bross Lloyd, former Harvard student, today completed his argument in the suit of Daniel L. Smith for $35,000 against his client, and the case was taken under advisement by the full bench of the Supreme Court.

Walter H. Grant, counsel for Smith, who is an attorney, concluded prior to Attorney Kaplan's opening and it is expected that a decision will be rendered in about three months.

The suit which was to recover the balance of a $50,000 fee for freeing Lloyd from a guardianship and trusteeship, brought to light a strange story of the relations of the former Harvard student and "spendthrift" millionaire," with Mrs. Ida J. McGraw of Everett.

The details of Lloyd's tangled affairs were revealed in exhibits laid before the full bench. One of these was the report of Franklin P. Hammond, a master, who held a hearing in the case some time ago. Master Hammond's finding was $7,500. Attorney Smith's services were worth $15,000, and were not worth $50,000.

Of Lloyd, who is a grandson of the founder of the Chicago Tribune, and his life in the home of Mrs. McGraw at the time he was at Harvard, the report states that Lloyd spent $60,000 on the Everett woman and her family, and says in part:

On January 6, 1907, John Bross Lloyd came to Cambridge and was admitted to Harvard University as a dropped freshman on probation. He became acquainted with a Mrs. McGraw, a married woman living with her husband and one daughter in Everett. He became infatuated with her and sometime afterward abandoned his residence in Cambridge and stayed in Everett, with the McGraws, going back and forth between Everett and the university. Gradually the infatuation increased. He became estranged from his brothers, resigned from college in January, 1908, and took up a permanent residence in the McGraw household.

From June, 1907, to February, 1909, he spent much money on Mrs. McGraw and her family. He paid $34,000 to alter their house and bought an automobile for her. In all he spent some $60,000 on them. Shortly before January, 1909, litigation was begun over the estate of his grandfather was about to end, whereby he would have received a large sum of money. His brothers were anxious to prevent him from, and fearful of his squandering his money. In January, 1909, he was induced by them to execute a deed of real estate in Illinois and all his interest in his grandfather's estate, largely stock in the Chicago Tribune, to two trustees, James H. Pling of Worcester and William B. Sprout, for five years. The trustees then received the sum of $552,559, the gross yearly income from Lloyd's entire estate being $25,000. Thereupon the Probate Court in Boston, on petition of the brothers, on February 15, 1909, adjudged John Bross Lloyd a spendthrift, and put him under guardianship as such of the two above trustees.

BAD FAITH IN HER.

Lloyd was not entirely estranged from his brothers, but he believed they had all along been conspiring with his guardians to put him in a sanitarium so as to get his property.

He also believed the only person faithful to him was Mrs. McGraw. He believed that she had defeated all attempts to confine him, and that through her alone he would be able to preserve his personal liberty and to get control of his property.

Almost immediately after succeeding in disentangling himself from his relations with Mrs. McGraw he became involved with another woman. On the Sunday five days after he had left Mrs. McGraw he had a long interview with the plaintiff, in which he confessed that his relations with Mrs. McGraw had always been improper and that he had been engaged to marry her when Mr. McGraw, whose health was not good, should die, and that up to leaving her he had believed he was in love with her. McGraw died in August, 1913.

At the same interview John Bross Lloyd told the plaintiff he was deeply in love with a Miss Sullivan and wished to marry her. This Miss Sullivan was an orphan niece of the plaintiff's wife, who had for years practically stood in the relation of mother to her. Lloyd went to the house of Miss Sullivan's sister in West Roxbury, where she was staying, took her to the plaintiff's house that same day of the interview, April 27, proposed marriage to her that same day, and the following day took her to Boston with him and purchased for her an engagement ring.

WANTED TO WED AT ONCE.

John wished to be married immediately. The plaintiff suggested putting off the marriage till the Fall. John set the date for the marriage for June 25, 1913, and advanced Miss Sullivan $1,150 to provide for the cost of her wedding outfit.

Then the two brothers, William Bross and Henry Lloyd, came on to see John. The next day, June 16, 1913, John informed Miss Sullivan he did not intend to marry her. Then, at the instigation of his brothers, he put all his property in trust. On June 19, 1913, John Bross Lloyd went on a trip around the world.

Among the exhibits printed with the full court papers is a "Chronological History, 1907, 1908, by J. B. Lloyd," which reads in part:

In December, 1906, Brother William Bross Lloyd of Chicago gave me a letter of introduction to Mrs. Ida J. McGraw of Everett, Mass., to the effect she was to take care of me. On January 2, I arrived in Boston in the morning. In the afternoon I telephoned to her in Everett to make an appointment to see her at the Touraine, in the ladies' parlor, at 4 p. m., the next day.

The afternoon of January 3 came and I presented her with the letter, which, after reading it, she returned to me, as my brother had asked, and I destroyed it as directed. She consented to take care of me, so in three or four days I went to see the rest of the family.

Another exhibit is a long letter written by the brother, William Bross Lloyd, to Attorney Daniel L. Smith, written on board the Oonas June 17, 1912. This says in part:

During the fall of 1907 the relations between J. H. L. and IM. (Mrs. McGraw) became closer and closer, and until he was living at her house practically all the time. This finally came to the attention of the officers of Harvard College, who called J. B. L. before them. In connection with this, J. B. L. let slip facts which revealed to them his relations with IM. For a time J. B. L. was in imminent danger of expulsion, but through the influence of his brothers he was permitted to resign.

The $150,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Mary Sullivan against John Bross Lloyd was dismissed in the Fall of 1913.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women who believe an entirely add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same foods you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

LOOKING FOR WORK

So many men complain about work; even boys and girls find their duties tedious and irksome, but it is really their own lack of physical strength that makes it hard.

Rich blood, strong lungs and healthful digestion make work pleasurable in business, in school or even housework and if you who are easily tired—who are not sick, but weak and nervous—would just take Scott's Emulsion for one month and let it, pure, concentrated food, create richer blood to pulsate through every artery and vein—let it build a structure of healthy tissue and give you vigorous strength—you would find work easy and would look for more. Always insist on Scott's.

GILCHRIST'S

1855 GILCHRIST'S 61st ANNIVERSARY 1916

When This Store Started In 1855

The ladies in hoopskirts and gentlemen in tall hats and long coats travelled in omnibuses and stage coaches. The first horse car came about a year later, and railroad lines were few and far between. The telephone was unheard of, and telegraphy little used, and the streets were lighted with gas and oil lamps.

But what a difference 61 years has made, right here on the corner of Washington and Winter Streets. Compare our present ten-story building with that of 61 years ago, and think of the many new innovations and modern methods that have been adopted since your grandparents did their shopping here away back. This week we are Sixty-One Years Young—and you are invited to celebrate with us.

GRAUSTEIN MILK TESTIMONY CLOSED

The Graustein milk hearings, which have been in session at the Federal Building before Examiner Brown, representing the Interstate Commerce Commission, have closed. Mr. Brown has gone to New York. It was reported at the Federal Building today that the examiner will hold milk hearings in Manhattan.

The next step in the Boston and New England rate will be argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington on a date to be set after a transcript of the Boston testimony has been forwarded to the commission. Arguments will be made on the Worcester complaints and also on the previous hearing on contractors' protests against Boston & Maine rate proposals.

The Graustein hearing was on the complaint brought in by Ida K. Graustein against the Boston & Maine and the Rutland that her milk business had been injured by discrimination.

Mrs. Graustein's husband, William A. Graustein, handled her case before Examiner Brown, testifying at length and questioning witnesses.

$20,000 Verdict Won by Girl Hit by Falling Brick

Miss Maria Capuccio of the North End was given a verdict for $20,000 by a jury in the Suffolk Superior Civil Court in her suit for injuries received when a brick fell from a five-story building on Hanover street on February 15, 1915, striking her head. This is the largest verdict returned in Suffolk County for some time.

Miss Capuccio is twenty-two, and as a result of the injuries her left side is paralyzed. There is a depression in her head, and 165 pieces of skin were grafted by surgeons over her open skull, and is the only protection of the soft brain over her head.

The suits were against Samuel Goldstein, Antonia Pestone and Dr. Facundo De Fee. Major Thomas Walsh, brother of former Governor Walsh, and Judge Timothy Connolly were counsel for Miss Capuccio.

DEMAND FRESH AIR IN BOSTON STREET CARS

Lack of ventilation in electric cars has become a menace to public health, according to many persons, who have asked the AMERICAN to take the matter up.

Physicians have declared grip, consumption, tuberculosis, pneumonia and diphtheria are contracted in close electrics, and that the epidemic of grip in New England is largely traceable to these conditions.

Officials of the Elevated and members of the Public Service Commission declare they can do nothing until the public is educated to the value of fresh air.

It is said that conductors are instructed to keep the temperature of cars at forty-five degrees, but the objections of passengers whose houses are overheated, prevent this.

A current of air passing through a car would sweep away many of the germs. This air is breathed over and over again and inevitably many persons become infected.

PUBLIC SERVICE VIEW.

Consultation with a Public Service commissioner gave little hope of remedy at the present time. The commissioner said he did not see that anything could be done until all the people were educated to the value of fresh air.

"You can not find any car full of people with the same ideas on fresh air, and the amount needed; therefore any attempt to ventilate will meet with strenuous objection on the part of patrons themselves.

"When I get into a car with men who have been eating garlic, or who have been taking alcohol in some form, I want to open all windows and doors, but that would work no end of trouble. I hardly see what can be done more than is attempted, until all people learn the value of pure air."

Officials of the Boston Elevated system have the same excuse, and maintain their conductors follow out as far as possible rules set down by the Public Service Commission.

"Our men do what they can," said an authority of the Elevated road, "but the public will not be dictated to, and there is always some one to object to open windows. The men follow their instructions as nearly as they can, which is to keep the car at a temperature of about forty or forty-five degrees.

MANY PATRONS AROUSED.

"In a crowded car will be patrons thinly clad who in all probability keep their homes at a temperature of seventy or eighty; by them may be passengers with thick overcoats and furs. The one calls for all windows shut and the others want everything open. Little can be done until the public is educated to ask for that which is most healthful and hygienic. We do nothing in connection with ventilation that is not approved and supervised by the Massachusetts Public Service Commission."

Patrons who come to the AMERICAN with complaints are becoming desperate and maintain that more and more people are walking rather than to trust themselves in cars laden with disease and foul air. They demand that something be done to give relief, and threaten to take the matter up with the State Board of Health.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleaning, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During that time he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonderful workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition.

SAVES ELDERLY FOLKS FROM BLADDER MISERY

When you're fifty your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be," is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant complications in other organs arise. Take in particular those with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

The best known remedy for these troubles is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This remedy has stood the test for more than 200 years since it was first produced in the ancient laboratories in Haarlem, Holland. It acts directly on the kidneys and bladder and gives relief at once or your money will be refunded. For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy that needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the liquid oil in bulk form.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are causing you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall-stones, gravel, brick-dust, etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidneys, liver, stomach and allied organs.

Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. GOLD MEDAL are the pure original imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. Accept no substitutes.

WHITE SWIMMING MEET TOMORROW

The first annual swimming carnival of the R. H. White Mutual Benefit Association will take place tomorrow night at the Ocean Pier Baths, Revere, and it is expected that nearly 1,000 employes and friends will be present. There will be races and nautical events galore, with handsome cups and prizes provided by the R. H. White Company. Among the events will be a Monte Cristo dive by one of the employes, and exhibitions by two well-known swimming clubs, and by employes of the store. There will be music and dancing.

The social committee in charge includes President J. L. Doyle, chairman; Misses N. Kennedy, A. Adams, N. Tukey, E. Kernan, L. Walsh and Thomas Sesler, Waldo Emerson, Melvin Fletcher, James Morgan, Thomas Donohue, James Shea, Frank Nolan, Louis Cragin and A. DeMorales.

The officers of the association are: J. L. Doyle, President; Philip Nixon, vice-president; Miss Nellie M. Welsh, secretary, and Albert Ferry, treasurer. The association has doubled its membership within the last six months.

ELKS OF WOBURN INITIATE MAYOR

Mayor Harold P. Johnson of Woburn was as spry as could be expected today, after being initiated into Woburn Lodge of Elks. Likewise City Solicitor Wilfred D. Gray, Alderman Frank H. Graham, Superintendent of Public Works Henry V. Mackasey, formerly of Boston, and eight other well-known Woburnites. It was a record night for initiations in that lodge, with twelve candidates.

The following officers were elected: Exalted ruler, Winthrop M. Dearborn; esteemed leading knight, Michael H. McCarron; esteemed loyal knight, William J. McGowan, esteemed lecturing knight, Alfred Elson; Secretary, James H. Connolly; treasurer, Francis W. Bellew; delegate national convention, Police Chief Charles S. McDermott (retiring exalted ruler), alternate, John J. Costello, P. E. R.

YVETTE GUILBERT IN FOLK SONG MATINEE

Yvette Guilbert, the French singer, returned to the Shubert Theatre yesterday afternoon and gave the first of two additional matinees of French song. She was assisted by Emily Gresser, violinist, and George Barrere, the flutist.

Her program again ran the gamut of the centuries of French folk song. Most of these songs would not be effective in ordinary hands, but the art of Mme. Guilbert is so seductive and her pantomime and gestures so expressive that they become most entertaining. Mme. Guilbert wears some wonderful costumes during her interpretations. She also sings a few songs in an English that is quaint, fluted and fascinating. The last matinee will be Friday afternoon.

HARVARD CLUB TO ANNOUNCE LEGACY

At the annual meeting tonight of the Harvard Club, the payment to the club of a legacy of $1,000 under the will of J. Arthur Heebe will be announced. Candidates for officers to be voted on are Henry L. Higginson, '55, president emeritus; Odin Roberts, '76, president; Robert P. Herrick, '90, vice-president; F. S. Mead, '85, treasurer, and F. W. Thomson, '92, secretary.

Motor Notes.

By J. C. KERRISON.

Another addition has just been made to the organization of the Hodgshaw Motor Company, dealers in Dodge Brothers cars, in the person of Frederick P. Rudolph. Mr. Rudolph is a former Boston man, but for several years has been in Detroit, with the efficiency department of the Packard Motors factory organization. He will do similar work for the Dodge Brothers for the Hodgshaw Company. Before he went to Detroit, Mr. Rudolph was associated with the Locomobile Sales Agency Company of Boston and Beverly, and with the Stanley Marine Engine Company of Lawrence.

Last Monday the Willys-Overland factory passed the 100,000 car of the 1916 model. In 1908 this company celebrated the production of 400 cars a year. How high the production has been in the past few years is abundantly proven by the total reached on Monday.

The Autocar Sales & Service Company has not announced the price of gasoline to its customers since the first of the year, and that, too, in spite of further advances in the market price. Owing to the great increase in the wholesale price of gasoline it has become necessary, to protect their own interest, to increase the price so that until further notice a rate of 25c per gallon will be charged. It is believed that the Auto Car & Sales Company is the only company of its kind which has not made any increase in the retail price of gasoline during the past two and one-half months.

"Personally Conducted" Economy Trip to California

If you can go to California in a comfortable through sleeping car, by the most interesting scenic route, at a great saving in expense, and in charge of a Special Conductor, paid to look after details and explain the points of interest to you, spend a lot of money on costly "Limited" train service? You can go on a Burlington Route "Personally Conducted" Party. That way is not only much more economical, but much more interesting as well. Through Colorado at the Grand Cañon.

You will be interested in learning the expense of this trip is well within reach. Just call or write and I will gladly explain all the details.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub backache away with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe it's a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause you distress. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.—Advertisement.

BEALS TELLS OF RUMORS ABOUT RICHARDS IN THE B. A. A. CASE

George W. Beals, former secretary of the Boston Athletic Association, testified at the Richards-Dentlar suit in Plymouth today that he heard a rumor at the association in the investigation of 1914 that Dr. Russell A. Richards, the Boston dentist who is suing twenty members of the association's governing board for $20,000, had been involved with a Greenfield woman, where he formerly lived, and who had assisted him in his studies."

Beals said that he first heard this Greenfield report from a man named Fleming, since deceased.

Beals said that, up to April 19 of 1914, when Dr. Richards made his minority report, he never had heard anything detrimental to the dentist.

But Beals said that shortly after that derogatory rumors about Dr. Richards were heard at the club.

Witness testified that he heard that Dr. Richards had had trouble with fraternal orders to which he belonged.

Beals did not recall telling other members of the B. A. A. of the Greenfield rumor, but he admitted that he believed the story at the time he sat with the committee and took the final expulsion vote on Dr. Richards.

Beals said that he had not taken pains to investigate the rumor, believing that Fleming knew what he was talking about.

J. J. Feeley, counsel for Dr. Richards, called Beals' attention to correspondence which had been posted on the association bulletin board. Witness declared he had posted all formal correspondence, not putting up any particular letter.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Thomas Hunt, Beals, when asked if the rumors influenced him to vote to expel Dr. Richards, replied:

"The rumors had not the slightest influence on my vote. He was already a member of the club. Had he been up for election to membership it might have been different. I believed that because of my long membership I owed the club the duty, if any member made any allegation of dishonesty against a brother member, to vote to expel him."

VOTE TO STAND BY LOMASNEY BAR BILL

The Joint Judiciary Committee of the State Legislature voted today to stand by the Lomasney bill, which permits an applicant with the equivalent of two years' high school training to take the examination for admission to the bar.

Martin M. Lomasney obtained the passage of this bill last year after one of the biggest fights of the legislative session.

The repeal of the bill was sought this year by the Massachusetts Bar Association. The Judiciary Committee today voted 7 to 6 to withdraw from the repeal bill. The report will not be accepted without a fight in both Senate and House.

Mr. Lomasney maintains that education is a matter of opportunity rather than of ability, and that many deserving Massachusetts boys have been denied the privilege of taking the examinations because of the high educational qualifications demanded by the bar examiners.

DETECTIVE HELD ON FRAUD CHARGE

Albert E. Andrews of Somerville, a detective, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hayes in the Federal court today, charged with attempting to defraud by pretending to be a United States deputy marshal.

Andrews was held in $500 for a hearing on March 23.

Special Agent Schmid of the Department of Justice claimed that Andrews, representing himself as a deputy marshal, threatened to make arrests unless certain sums of money were paid him.

About a year ago he was prosecuted for detaining soldiers and marines, and then collecting the government reward for information concerning deserters.

SUFFRAGISTS TO WAIT UPON LODGE

Arrangements have been completed by the Lynn Republican Club for the organization of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage that will wait upon Senator Lodge tomorrow at the Oxford Club. Modern Bread Is Made Without Touching Hands

Bread is mixed and baked without being touched by the human hand in up-to-date bakeries. Dr. H. H. Barnard of New York, a pure food specialist, has written an interesting article on modern bread-making, in which he says:

The baker selects and blends the flour, which is sifted into great mixers of uniform temperature Summer and Winter. From the mixers the flour goes into troughs which, during the process of fermentation, fill with snow white dough.

Dividing machines cut the dough into pieces exactly the right size for each loaf and drop the pieces on belts which carry them to moulding machines. These roll and shape the dough into loaves, which are dropped into bread pans. Each uniform loaf is exactly like its neighbor in size and shape.

The pans are sent automatically into proofing boxes heated by steam. The loaves rise and fill the pans, from which they are slid into great ovens to bake.

The finished loaf comes out of the oven a beautiful golden brown, baked just enough to crisp the crust and make the interior a compact mass, permeated by air-cell of uniform size. When the loaf comes out it is wrapped by machinery in special paper.

Woman Offers to 'Bare Soul' to Save Husband

By International News Service.

Perth Amboy, N. J., March 15.—"I will bare my whole soul if necessary to save my husband."

Mrs. William Trotter made this assertion when Recorder H. E. Peckergill refused to allow her to testify in her husband's defence. The latter was held in $1,000 to await Grand Jury action on charges of shooting, with intent to kill, and carrying concealed weapons.

Trotter met Wilson Voorhees walking garage owner, on the street.

"You have been talking my wife to places," he charged.

Before Voorhees could reply, Trotter fired four shots at him. None took effect.

Trotter pleaded justification. He sought to have a charge of misconduct placed against Voorhees, but Recorder Peckergill refused to entertain it.

Mrs. Trotter spent the day with her husband in his cell. She intimated that her story would be an interesting one if it should be necessary to to save her husband from imprisonment. Voorhees denies Trotter's charges.

After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.—Advertisement.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish and stomach sour?

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleaning at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, cut or sad, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative"; and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs", then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

CLAIMS THAT SWAMP-ROOT SAVED HER LIFE

About nine years ago I had Rheumatism so bad that I was in bed for six weeks. I was not able to raise my head to take a drink of water. I was unable to move my hands or feet, and they got so much hurt me so that words could not tell what I suffered. I saw Dr. Kilmer & Company's advertisement of Swamp-Root and I decided to try it and commenced to improve with the first bottle. I continued on with the use of Swamp-Root until I was restored to good health. I am now 67 years of age and I do my own house work for four in the family; also I do my own washing. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism for the last eight years. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to others as I believe it saved my life.

Very truly yours,
MRS. EMMA A. BOGGS.

A LOCAL CITIZEN PRAISES REMEDY

Edward Gordon, Business Man of Boston, Says Plant Juice Has Cured Him.

It is always interesting to listen to the statements of friends, especially when they are sincere and honest in what they say. Such interest is created in a statement coming from a well-known business man of East Boston, who has a large circle of friends in the business world as well as socially. Such a man is Mr. Edward Gordon, who resides at No. 149 Bennington Street and is the proprietor of a cigar and tobacco store in this city. He stated:

"I suffered with indigestion and dyspepsia for years. My food fermented in my stomach and caused gas to form there and I suffered awful distress after eating and my stomach was all bloated. I could not sleep and got so weak and nervous that I was taken to the hospital, as I was told I had ulcers of the stomach. I kept growing weaker and weaker and lost pounds in weight and could not obtain any relief and tried ever so many different kinds of medicine without any benefit whatever. I heard of your medicine, Plant Juice, and now that I have taken it for only about 4 weeks I can truthfully state to the Boston public that it has cured me of all my trouble. I can eat anything now and digest it, sleep well at night and have no more trouble with gas, as the bloated condition has gone down and I have lost six inches around my waist. Your medicine has been a godsend to me and I am loosing the picture of perfect health now. I am telling all of my friends about it."

EDWARD GORDON.

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s Store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

FRIENDS DECLARE SLAYER OF MANICURIST IS INSANE

greeting between Olmstead and his wife was affectionate. Olmstead kissed his wife.

During the interview which followed between Olmstead and his wife and Dr. Taft, Sheriff Quinn was close at hand. Olmstead wrote several notes which, after being scrutinized by Sheriff Quinn, were given to Mrs. Olmstead and she put them in her purse.

In leaving the jail Mrs. Olmstead and Dr. Taft were joined by an elderly man.

It became known today that Olmstead wept when told of the death of Mrs. Mooers.

"It's too bad, too bad," he was heard to moan, as he placed his hands on his head.

The body of Mrs. Mooers was claimed today by W. L. Jennings of No. 139 Broadway, Somerville, her brother-in-law, who will attend to the burial arrangements. The funeral, it is understood, will be private.

Before going to the Charles Street jail Mrs. Olmstead and her brother visited Captain Sullivan of the City Hall avenue station and got the data which Olmstead left at the office of Mrs. Mooers the night of the shooting.

STANDS BY HUSBAND.

It was learned today that Olmstead's father died in an insane asylum about thirty-eight years ago.

"Mrs. Olmstead will stand by her husband," said Attorney McAnarney. "The tragedy was a great shock to her, for her husband so devoted to her and the children. I have not as yet had a conference with Mrs. Olmstead regarding the defence, and cannot say what it will be."

The notes learned from Miss Mae Snow, another manicurist, that although Olmstead had been paying attentions to Mrs. Mooers for three years. It was more than two years before Mrs. Mooers told her that her admirer was named Olmstead and not "Harry Clifford."

In the three years that Olmstead paid attention to Mrs. Mooers, the position learned, he had given her many presents, had presented her with new, costly manicure equipment, and never hesitated to spend money in his efforts to retain her love.

"Violet had no other suitor than Olmstead," Miss Snow declared. "There positively is no other man in the case. She died because she refused to have anything more to do with him.

"CALLED SELF 'HARRY CLIFFORD.'"

He had always been "Harry Clifford" to her. When she found out that he was married she was broken hearted. Since the time he told her he was married and had three children she tried in every way to drop his acquaintanceship. I have heard her say many times, 'Harry, be a nice, good friends. You may have sent much to me once, but this sort of thing can't keep up.'

"She regretted that he told her of his wife and family and lavished presents on her in his attempts to win back the respect he had lost."

Mrs. Mooers, who died shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday, prayed during her comparatively moments to be permitted to die. She had talked with Police Inspector Denney, telling him of the death of her husband, fourteen years ago, and of the death of her only son, William, last July. But when the inspector questioned her about Olmstead, she declined to talk, telling him to ask Olmstead himself.

AVOID ALL MEAT IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Uric Acid in meat excites Kidneys and irritates the Bladder.

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder weakness or Kidney Backache.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or settling up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your druggist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is also splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement.

Gold-Coaster in Letter Admits He Wed Actress

The mystery surrounding the reported marriage of Reginald Winans Hutton, Harvard Gold Coaster, and Miss Mabel Catherine Bowles Flinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Flinn of Boston, and which Hutton at first denied, was further complicated early today when William F. Enwright, manager of the Harvard hockey team and Hutton's roommate, admitted that he had received a letter confirming the wedding story.

Hutton in his letter to Enwright stated that he and his bride were on their way to Baltimore, where he would seek the forgiveness of his parents. The bridegroom-to-be also wrote that his bride was the daughter of a Boston contractor and not the daughter of a Boston banker, as stated in dispatches from Portsmouth, N. H., where the couple were said to have wed.

Enwright for hours denied that Hutton had become married, but soon as he received the letter confirming the dispatches he hastened to apologize to newspapermen for throwing them off the track.

Young Hutton, who is a junior at Harvard, has been a resident of Waverly Hall three years. On March 2, according to dispatches from Portsmouth, N. H., he visited that city in company with Miss Flinn, who up to a short time ago had been a member of the chorus of a musical comedy, and sought a marriage license.

The following day they secured his marriage and he sought the services of Harold B. Smith, as attorney. Attorney Smith held up the return of the marriage license until six days after the ceremony, as long as the law would allow.

When Hutton was found at his room at Harvard he denied the marriage and declared that any person who found the bride could kiss her. A few hours after he made this denial Enwright received the letter which has added to the mystery.

POINT SHIRLEY'S 'JITNEY CAR' AFIRE

Fire threatened the existence of the Point Shirley "jitney car"—the gasoline motor car which plies between Winthrop Beach and Point Shirley—early today when the car was being serviced in the "barn" at the Point.

In some manner battery wires in the car became short-circuited, which set fire to the engine. When Winthrop apparatus was responding to an alarm, the motorman of the car put out the flames with a hand extinguisher.

SENATOR SHIVELY OF INDIANA DIES

Washington, March 15.—Benjamin F. Shively, fifty-eight, senior Senator from Indiana, and for years a prominent figure in Congress, died here.

During three terms in the House and the seven years he had been in the Senate, Senator Shively had devoted his activities particularly to foreign affairs and tariff legislation.

MISS GERTRUDE BAKER.

Her smart attire frequently evoke favorable comment. She is the daughter of Ezra H. Baker.

A debutante of the season, whose smart attire frequently evokes favorable comment is Miss Gertrude Baker, only daughter of Ezra H. Baker.

Miss Baker's debutante party was an interesting social event. She makes her home with Mrs. Henry Reyes of Commonwealth avenue and is a cousin of Miss Elizabeth Baker, daughter of the Arthur M. Baker of Harvard street, Brookline.

An important November festivity was the dance for the two cousins given by their grandmother, Mrs. Ezra Howes Baker of Commonwealth avenue. Miss Baker is a member of the Sewing Circle and has taken part in a large number of debutante events this year.

The wedding last night of Miss Doris Patterson and Dr. Walter Bradford was of wide social interest. Miss Patterson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Patterson of No. 24 Lanark road, Brookline, graduated from Smith College in 1911 and Dr. Bradford graduated from Harvard in 1902.

The ceremony, to which only relatives and very close friends were invited, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Maxwell of the Second Unitarian Church, Audubon Circle.

The bridesmaid was Miss Helen Corbin of New Jersey, a classmate of Miss Patterson. The best man was Dr. Harry Shuman of Boston, a college and professional associate of Dr. Bradford. Dr. H. Wellington Smith U. S. N.; Dr. C. P. Warner, Edwin Porter, Dr. Harry Eichelm and George W. Pratt were the ushers.

The honeymoon will be spent in the Bahamas. Miss Patterson was prominent in the art and literary set at college and is very popular in the Summer colony at Marblehead Neck, the Patterson Summer home.

Dr. Bradford is a member of the visiting staff of the Forsyth Dental Infirmary.

REAL BABY MAY BE HERO IN PRIZE FILM

Some dimpled baby in actual life may be the hero or heroine of the winning scenario in the Scenario Contest now being conducted by the Boston AMERICAN in connection with the "Baby Week," which has just had such marked success in this city.

Only clergymen, but without restrictions as to residence or denomination, may compete, but the writers may, of course, draw upon their experiences in pastoral work. So the baby or babies who figure in the winning scenario may be live subjects, instead of mere creatures of the contestant's imagination.

Questions are asked regarding the exact kind of a plot required. Rule 3 of the contest reads:

The scenarios written for this contest must deal with the underlying facts of the "Better Babies" movement; they must give a striking presentation of these facts by a contrast of babies properly raised with babies who lack proper raising.

For instance, the baby raised by intelligent parents in proper manner can be compared with the baby reared in the absence of those advantages and opportunities, and the care it should have to fit it for its adult years.

A prize of $100 is offered by Louis Arassis Archer, the Lynn philanthropist for the best scenario, the winner to be selected by the contest judges.

Contestants may submit as many scenarios as they desire, but the scenarios must be original, and must be mailed so as to reach the office of the AMERICAN by midnight of March 21, 1916.

One Dying, Two Others Injured, in Engine Blow-Out

Fittsfield, March 15.—One man is dying and two others are seriously injured as the result of a blow-out of the crown shield of a freight locomotive near State Line station early today.

The men, all of whom live in Albany, were brought to this city on a passing train and cared for at the House of Mercy Hospital. The injured are:

Julius A. Rose, brakeman, No. 151 Fifth avenue, Albany. Dying from scalds.

John Wheeler, fireman, No. 1250 Broadway, Albany, burned about wrists and legs.

Ralph C. Edwards, engineer, No. 1221 State street, Albany, arm fractured and burns.

Somerville's 'War Baby,' Born Feb. 26, Is Dead

Returns at Somerville City Hall today revealed the death of the "war baby," born to Delia Burke, an eighteen-year-old Irish immigrant, at Somerville police station on February 26.

It also became known that the young mother has been turned over to the immigration authorities at Boston and that she may be deported.

Delia Burke arrived here from Ireland in October. She secured employment in a household on Stone avenue in Somerville.

On February 26 she went to the Somerville police headquarters and before Lieutenant Harmon could secure a physician a boy was born.

DIRTY STREETS SCORED BY HAGAN

Boston business men lose many thousands of dollars each season as a result of dirty streets, according to President Hagan of the City Council, speaking before the Massachusetts Retail Shoe Merchants' Association and the Boston Retail Shoe Salesmen's Association at a banquet at the Boston City Club.

Mr. Hagan declared that retail dealers are the chief sufferers, and that they are largely to blame because they neglect their civic duty and permit the election of men who think only of political advancement.

"With the streets in such condition as they have been during the past few weeks," he said, "you can't expect women to come out and buy quantities of goods.

Elmer J. Bliss, president of the Regal Shoe Company, said that if a mutual profit-sharing plan could be worked out, his concern would adopt it.

Annual Spring Sale of Toilet Goods at Cut Prices

Once in the Spring and once in the Fall we hold this Money-Saving Sale of Personal and Household Needs.
The articles included in this sale are so universally and so largely used, and the regular prices are so well known, that its unmistakable money-saving opportunities are apparent at a glance.
For any one to read this announcement and not act on it means that that person has so much money that saving it isn't any object to all.

As these cut prices are lower in many instances than some dealers can buy them for at wholesale, in order to conduct this sale strictly for our own customers we reserve the right to limit the quantity sold to any one purchaser.

Preparedness

IN time of peace prepare for mo' peace—for yo' country an' yo' pipe.

Velvet Joe.

AND the pipe that is full of VELVET is the pipe that is full of peace — slow-burning, mellow VELVET — the smoothest and mildest and peacefulest of smoking tobaccos.

The qualities that make VELVET more than "just smoking tobacco" are not a matter of "happen so," but are the result of "preparedness."

VELVET spends two full years "preparing," maturing and mellowing to bring out the real delights of Kentucky's best Burley tobacco.

Think what that means. Then try VELVET and know what that means.

FOSTER LAWYER MAY FIGURE IN THE LEGISLATIVE INQUIRY

That the legislative inquiry into the charges against Representative Harry C. Foster of Gloucester may result in action against Attorney John J. Walsh of Boston for his admitted failure to record himself as legislative counsel for the Gloucester-Rockport road bill was the report today at the State House.

Speaker Cox's refusal to confirm or deny this report today was regarded as significant.

When asked if the report were true, Speaker Cox replied, "I cannot discuss it."

When pressed for an answer, Speaker Cox would say only, "The Committee on Rules hasn't taken any action on the Foster case."

This feature of the case had been overshadowed by the sensational disclosure against the Gloucester legislator, who is charged with conduct unbecoming a member of the General Court.

Foster admitted that he collected $400 from Summer residents of the North Shore interested in the highway project. He testified that he paid the money to Attorney Walsh as a retainer for his legal services on the bill.

Attorney Walsh testified that, although he was retained at least two months ago, he had not registered himself with the Sergeant-at-Arms at the State House, as required by law, until March 1.

Mr. Walsh stated to the Foster investigating committee that he did not register because Foster assured him that the Committee on Roads and Bridges, of which Foster is House chairman, would not hold a public hearing until after the town meeting at Rockport. He did not appear at the committee hearing when the road bill was considered. He registered later.

When asked by Speaker Cox why he delayed this matter, Attorney Walsh replied, "I had not attended to the little formalities."

Speaker Cox then read Section 23 of Chapter 3 of the Revised Laws, which is as follows:

"A person, corporation or association employing or agreeing to employ a person to act as counsel or agent to promote or oppose, directly or indirectly, legislation by the General Court, or to act as legislative counsel or agent in connection therewith, shall, within one week after such employment or agreement, cause the name of such counsel or agent to be entered on a docket as hereinafter provided; and such counsel or agent shall also enter his name upon such docket."

Attorney Walsh testified that he received $250 of the fee in December.

Section 31 of the Revised Lawa provides:

"Whoever violates any provisions of Section 23 shall, for each offence, be punished by a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000. Any person acting as legislative counsel or agent contrary to the provisions of Section 23 shall, in addition to such fine, be disbarred from acting as legislative counsel or agent for three years from the date of such conviction. The Attorney-General shall cause prosecutions to be instituted for the violation of the provisions of Section 23."

Assistant Attorney-General Nelson P. Brown is sitting with the Committee on Rules in an advisory capacity.

The arguments in the Foster case were made before the Committee late today. Attorney Weston U. Friend made the argument against Foster, and Attorney Fred J. Daggett, counsel for Foster, delivered the argument in support of the Gloucester legislator.

125 Are Forced to Flee for Lives in Commonwealth Avenue Fire

Some of the women driven out by Back Bay fire. Above, from left to right, Miss Violet Baker, Miss Brownie Kennedy, Miss Patricia Smalley. Below, Miss Regina Berger, wearing trousers loaned by a guest of the Buckminster.

More than 125 persons were forced to flee for their lives early today from a fire which partially destroyed the five-story brick apartment house at No. 580 Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, known as Beverly Hall. Three alarms were sounded for the blaze and the damage to the building and the contents of the forty apartments, according to Chief Peter F. McDonough, amounts to between $25,000 and $30,000.

One aged woman and a number of small children were carried to the street by policemen, firemen and other rescuers. Miss Mildred Fay, whose apartment is on the third floor, was slightly cut by glass as she was descending the fire escape. She was cared for by a doctor in the Hotel Buckminster.

She ran to the window of her sitting room and saw smoke in great clouds. Miss Baker called the fire department on the phone. A few seconds later an alarm was sent in from Box 2312 at Commonwealth avenue and Deerfield streets.

That the occupants were able to escape is due to the work of Janitor F. Robillard and Sergeant Archie Campbell of the Back Bay station, who knocked on the doors and roused the occupants of the different apartments.

Soon a stream of people were pouring from the doors, while the dense smoke drove many others to the fire escapes in the rear of the building. Assisting in the work of warning the occupants were Patrolmen Berry, Weed, William Sullivan and Lorenz.

Mrs. Pauline Piehler, mother of Otto J. Piehler, the Boylston street merchant, who was asleep in her apartment on the second floor, was carried out by firemen and policemen. She was taken to the apartments of her son at the Buckminster.

Mrs. Wilbur, eighty-three, and her daughter, fifty, were on the top floor. Charles A. Corrigan, who occupies an adjoining apartment, told a fireman to break the window in their room and warn them. They were awakened just in time and Mrs. Wilbur, despite her years, made the journey over the slippery fire escape unaided.

The first piece of apparatus to arrive was Combination 3 from Brookline. Senior Hoseman Patey and Hosemen Tuttle, Rourke, Ryan and Keegan assisted many of the occupants to the street.

BURSTS THROUGH ROOF.

The fire spread into the walls, floors and ceilings. Thirty-five minutes after the sounding of the first alarm the fire burst through the roof, illuminating the sky. A second alarm was sounded and a short time later another alarm was sent in by Chief McDonough.

Among the occupants of the building are:

FORD SEEKS TO CHEAPEN GASOLINE

Washington, March 15.—Henry Ford is to conduct a campaign to reduce the price of gasoline. This announcement aroused the interest of the Federal Trade Commission and other government bureaus here. It was made by Representative Randall of California, who has a bill before Congress providing for government regulation of the prices of gasoline and other products.

After a conference with Mr. Ford's personal representative, said Mr. Randall, "I am convinced that the manufacturers will co-operate in the effort to reduce the present exorbitant price of gasoline. I feel sure that with his assistance we can not only bring gasoline down to a reasonable figure but that a public sentiment will be aroused which will result in legislation that will prevent any future boosting of the price.

"Mr. Ford believes that the Bill now pending and approved by the United States Bureau of Mines will form a great inducement to the price to producers. Mr. Ford is willing to go in partnership with another person to obtain information regarding flow. The process requires delicate special machinery, which Mr. Ford is having constructed. He has invented a device, property of another party he is to pay $1,000 royalty for, upon acceptance of it after trial."

Mr. Ford sent the following message to Representative Randall:

"The solution of the gasoline problem is an engineering matter. If some one fails the quickest way to get a solution will be to begin with an other one. Although I have not yet been able to take up the Hillman process at once, after the present test is completed I may go into it thoroughly."

CHARGE THEFT OF MONEY AND WATCH

Louis Lanzo, twenty-five, of Malden, was arrested early today by Special Officer Travers and Patrolman Manning of the City Hall station, charged with stealing on February 5 a black leather handbag containing $7.50, a woman's gold hunting case watch valued at $50, and a New Haven trip book to East Foxboro. The police say the bag, the property of Miss Laura Lane, was stolen from the office in which she is employed at No. 71 State street while she was in another room.

Snow and More Snow, the Best That's in Sight

Snow and less snow, in the opinion of the weather bureau at the post office for today.

Snow is expected to "smear up the real estate" Thursday late this afternoon and Thursday night, predicted Meteorologist Conrad Hollis early today.

Today's storm began with rain about half an hour ago. At 6:30 the rain turned into snow, and it snowed steadily all night. Up to 8 o'clock this morning the fall was 6.4 inches.

The storm is central over Virginia and is moving to the northeast. As far north as New York it is a rain storm, but from there north it is a snow storm. The area affected by the storm includes the Atlantic coast from the Virginia capes to Nantucket and the Great Lakes region.

The coldest place in New England today is Burlington, Vt., where it was 10 degrees above zero at 8 o'clock this morning. Next is Nantucket, where the warm ocean currents send the temperature up to 31 above zero at 8 o'clock. It was 32 above at Woods Holl and at almost all New York and Connecticut coast points.

Along the Mexican border the weather is moderate, with temperatures in the seventies. Throughout Texas it is warm, with the temperatures ranging from 48 to 68.

The temperature at Boston from midnight to midnight was 6 degrees from 17 to 23 above zero, and it was

YOUTH SENTENCED FOR TOBACCO THEFT

Eighteen-year-old Richard Powers of Decatur street, Charlestown, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction in Charlestown Court today for stealing $10 worth of tobacco from the store of Lawrence A. Maine, fruiterer, on Mystic wharf. On appeal he was held in $500.

CLEAR OSBORNE OF PERJURY CHARGE

White Plains, N. Y., March 15.—Supreme Court Justice Tompkins today directed the jury to acquit Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing Prison, who was placed on trial here on Monday on a charge of perjury. The perjury charge against Osborne was based upon his alleged denial during his inquiry of knowledge of certain cases of immorality at the prison.

Justice Tompkins held that the State had not produced any evidence showing wilful neglect on the part of the defendant and that Dr. Rudolph Diedrich, prison commissioner, had no authority to make investigations, such as did the members at Sing Sing. Following the decision the wardens of Sing Sing declared that the action of Justice Tompkins was complete exoneration of Mr. Osborne. They motion to dismiss the indictment was made by Assistant District Attorney Bartlett.

"Before the district attorney began to question those were cases of immorality among the prison staff we knew that Mr. Osborne was also aware of these cases, but Mr. Osborne could not have reported him, as charged," said the judge.

SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND TO BUILD

Providence, March 15.—There is no idea of intention and never has been, of abandoning the construction of the Southern New England Railway to this city, and this project will be completed just as soon as possible."

This sworn statement was made here by E. E. Smith, president of the Central Vermont Railway and the Southern New England Railway, while testifying before Commissioner John H. Howell of the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here in connection with the application of the Central Vermont road for permission to continue the operation of the Sound Line from New London.

Braves Win Game, 7-0 Homer for Snodgrass

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

MIAMI, Fla., March 15.—Today Manager Stallings and his Braves resume their practice sessions, following yesterday's conflict with the Fort Lauderdale team, which went the way of the Braves, 7 to 0, while tomorrow a nephew of C. Holiday Ebbets, renowned in Brooklyn as the inventor of special occasions, will line up his Miami team against the former champions.

Ebbets' team has been in the Florida East Coast League for some few years, and, according to young Ebbets, has always managed to trim the Fort Lauderdale bunch. Being a worthy nephew of a brilliant uncle, Ebbets of Miami is of the opinion his team is better than the one which represents Boston in the National League and will attempt to prove it.

This morning the squad engaged in the regular hitting, fielding and sliding practice. The pitchers went out with several catchers in relief, Tatum Park was an exceedingly busy spot. Captain Eddie Pittapatch had a special drill with his team and hopes this afternoon to wipe out the tie of Monday and incidentally trounce the Braves.

JAMES TAKING LIGHT WORK.

Bill James is still working out slowly, and as yet hasn't been able to put a great deal of steam behind the ball. He remarks that his arm doesn't feel dead, but it doesn't feel exactly alive. Outfield drills are beginning to round into form and Paul Strand appears to be better than on original appearances. Shelley Bartlett.

The other pitchers look good and seem to improve each day. Sora Arms are rapidly passing into oblivion. Those of the players who were bothered by sunburn Monday are in for better shape today and able to throw the ball about without wincing.

Fort Lauderdale offered a couple of former league pitchers who went well at the beginning of the game. For the Braves, Reagan, Kretzer and Barnes worked and all of their contributions delivered but three hits were secured and only four men saw first base.

EIGHT HITS FOR BRAVES.

Eight hits came the way of the former champions. Their first run was tallied in the third inning. Hagen led off with a hit and gave way to Edgar Collins as a runner. Collins promptly started for second, when the catcher threw the ball away, went along to third and then stole home, proceeded to beat Snodgrass' rap and Collins scored. An infield out and Wilbur's single sent "Snod" home.

In the fourth a brace of errors put Maranville and Knetzer on the pans and Gowdy's scorching drive to the Rabbit. Then came Snodgrass with a four-ply wallop which landed in the left field fence and three runs were in.

Konetchy had a life on a fielder's choice in the fifth and at once pilfered second. "Ted" Smith's double scored him. A wild throw by the pitcher off Snodgrass' rap gave the latter second in the sixth and an other error put him on third. Magee singled and scored Snodgrass, thus ending the scoring for the day.

BUCHES GETS UGLY RAP.

In batting practice before the game "Red" Smith smashed one off Tom Hughes, who is the third man that struck the tall twirler over the heart, felling him cold. He was not severely injured though he had to give up work for the afternoon.

D. B. Lewis of Lexington, who has been with the team since its arrival here, left for Boston last night.

Yesterday was the hottest day thus far on the trip and the indications are today will be even hotter. In the shade at 1 o'clock yesterday the mercury touched 76. Today has that mark tied at least.

MAISEL IN YANKEE OUTFIELD FOR GOOD

By International News Service.

Marion, Ga., March 15.—Manager Rogers Hornsby's Yankees, 6-5. Regulars defeated the Vanningans, 6-5, the feature being the work of Magee and Gilhooley in the outfield. These two men, with Fritz Maisel, have been chosen regulars and Gilhooley threw out two men at the plate. Mogridge and Russ pitched for the Regulars and Fish and Piercy for the Vanningans.

THE RABBITS' COLUMN

Walter J. Maranville, SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

Miami, Fla., March 15.

SOME of the boys attended a dance last night at Ocean Beach Casino a few evenings ago, and as a result were somewhat late about getting home. Lo and behold, they found awaiting them the Chief, and take it from me, folks, he had something to say regarding the hours at yesterday's meeting. Of course, I cannot tell you just what came off, but suffice it to say that a few pointed words were directed toward us.

However, it didn't concern me, for I wasn't among those who went to the dance. Instead, "Red" Smith and I visited a movie show and retired early and consequently weren't at all interested in what the Chief had to say. I do think, however, that late hours and training trips do not harmonize well. For once, I believe in an early trip to the bar.

* * *

Tomorrow night we are all to be the guests of the Knights of Columbus at their annual St. Patrick's Day celebration. Believe me, folks, the boys will be there in a bunch, prepared to do justice to the feed and just how the day is celebrated at home.

* * *

"Big Bill" James is striving to get into condition, and the boys are with him to a man. Yesterday he consulted with a local optometrist, but as yet he hasn't told me what the result was to say regarding the lame wing. Bill knows that he hasn't been in form but he is going to be mighty slow work rounding it into shape.

* * *

Whether or not the new owners of the Braves will be ready and willing to allow Bill to pull through the year along his contract is a mooted question here. Since Judge Fuller died, Ed Reulbach was secured for the express purpose of fortifying the club against the possible loss of James.

* * *

The addition of Reulbach to the squad is welcomed by those of us who know him. You can't tell Johnny Evers or Ira Kinsella that Big Ed is even close to done. Koney saw him work all last season and is strong for him as a member of the club. He should arrive in camp either late tonight or tomorrow afternoon.

* * *

The way the people here turn out for the games is something worthy of mention. Just think of about 700 paying to see us perform against an admittedly weak team and going against prices ranging from twenty-five to seventy-five cents for the privilege. This trip has been better financially than any the Braves have taken in late seasons.

BASEBALL BY WIRE

Chicago, March 15.—Barry McCormick and Joe O'Brien, Federal League umpires in 1915, have received Baseball Writers' Association appointments. Money, Friel, Johnson, Knapp, Connolly and Nallin complete the staff.

Tampa, Fla., March 15.—The Cubs slaughtered the Southern College team, 21-0. Mayer and Flack, with the Chifeds last season, drove in seven runs.

New York, March 15.—President Barrow of the International League has called a special meeting here March 26.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 15.—The Philly Yannigans today were out for revenge in their game with the Regulars. The Yannigans were defeated yesterday by the score of 9 to 5, Jacksonville, Fla., March 15.—The Athletics worked hard on the field this morning in preparation for the nine-inning struggle between the Regulars and Yannigans this afternoon.

Dawson Springs, Ky., March 15.—If accommodations are available at Hot Springs the Giants will bring some time between days of schedule, and more southward as a result of the change, which proved another good training.

New Orleans, La., March 15.—Gould, Fowler and Chapman have been recorded the latest addition to the Cleveland troupe. Regular practice games will be played today.

Tampa, Fla., March 15.—Baseball held on today, but Jennings gave the Tigers two workouts and a practice game.

San Antonio, Tex., March 15.—There was no game held in San Antonio today, but there was a local entertainment and scheduled work for all members.

Charlottesville, Va., March 15.—Another spell of cold weather forced the Phillies to limit their practice today.

Tampa, Fla., March 15.—Perfect weather prevailed here again today and the Cubs were out for another whole workout.

Mineral Wells, Tex., March 15.—Manager Rowland gave his White Sox a program of light practice today. The cold wind kept the athletes in the clubhouse.

Daytona, Fla., March 15.—Every step was made today in preparation for practice games between picked teams of the Dodgers.

HEALTH HINTS
Rheumatism.

For those who have tried to be rid of rheumatism and have failed, we urge the use of Minard's liniment, that has stood the test of years and brought such satisfactory relief in thousands of cases right here in Boston, because it is always dependable, is absolutely pure and quickly drives out all rheumatic pains. It is safe and very effective. Does not stain or blister. Is clean, pleasant to use and very economical.—Advertisement.

Twin Hockey Bill on Tonight at the Arena

There's a spicy hockey double-header on tap at the Arena tonight. It will open up the Harvard Club in the opener, and the closing contest brings together the Arena Hockey Club seven and New Haven Ut. Arena team. The twin bill starts at 8:15 o'clock.

B. A. A. stands only half a game behind Arena in the Boston League standing and is confident it will dispose of the Crimson.

The second clash is bound to be a battle royal. The fact that three former members of the New Haven aggregation are at present sporting the A. A. A. jersey will add to the liveliness of the game.

The New Haven team comes here with a hockey sensation in the shape of Nig in centre ice. This lad is a member of the famous Wilnie family of Nova Scotia, well known throughout Canada for its hockey ability.

'GUNBOAT' SMITH RIGHT WITH DILLON

By International News Service.

New York, March 15.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis mingled with "Gunboat" Smith for ten rounds at the Broadway Sporting club last night before a select gathering. In several rounds it looked rather stormy for Smith, but he always managed to weather the storm. The Gunner licked it up from start to finish. He whanged Dillon with the famous "bolo punch" swing and made Jack's cauliflower ear swell quite a bit.

The worst round for the Gunner was the seventh, but he soon recovered him so hard around the body it began to look squally for the local boy, but he was there all the finish, and, on the whole, pulled quite a neat come-back.

B. C. H. NINE GETS UNDER WAY SOON

Baseball will get under way at Boston College High within a few days and Coach Tom McCabe will hold indoor practise until the weather permits him to take his squad out. Father Bleck, the faculty director of athletics, has installed a number of nets and has equipped the gym so that batting and batting practice can be had.

McCabe is minus a member of last year's championship team, among those being Eddie Lyons, still, born of whom graduated, and will probably be seen in action on the Holy Cross and Boston College nines this year.

COLONIAL QUINTET GETS A NEW RECORD

The Colonial Club (Amateur Boston Pin League) established a new world's record in its match with the Lowells, at Dorchester, when it rolled up a grand total of 1,812. This same quintet hung up the record last night in the second, when it counted 1,749. Dr. Howe, with 386, was top scorer.

O'SICKEY FAILS TO SHINE IN NEW YORK

By International News Service.

New York, March 15.—Ben O'Sickey, the high speed skater of Cleveland, failed to get a place in the half-mile handicap race at St. Nicholas Rink last night. He started from scratch and finished fourth. Walter Kuhne, New York A. C., won the event.

Soccer Shots.

SERIOUS consideration is being given by the Football Association to the transfer of amateur players as the time for replies to the questions of the F. A. draws to a close.

* * *

THE Northern Massachusetts and New Hampshire will have the experiences little or no trouble in disposing of the question as far as their own cup competitions are concerned, and, profiting by the experience, it is rumored that its suggestions will be very nearly adopted.

* * *

THE Rhode Island League, at the recent meeting of the Southern New England Football Association, was the only one to abide definitely by the favored abolishing entirely the preliminary amateur contract, that a player be confined to one club only and that the registration of such players be continued under the direct charge of the national body.

* * *

THE clubs in the Southern New England Football Association are just an fair behind in their games as is this section. During the month of February not a game was played. The Tigers are hoping for a break in the weather.

* * *

THE Northern Massachusetts and New Hampshire State Association has extended its playing season to June 30, and, with the Boston and district league about to resume its schedule, the Bunker Hill team is to be placed to keep the "fans" busy up to the beginning of the baseball season, not counting the Williamson cup competition.

* * *

PLAYERS of the New Bedford F. C. and Fall River Rovers are doing a lot of indoor training preparatory to stacking up against each other in their fourth round games of the national cup series, postponed from last Saturday.

* * *

FALL RIVER ROVERS are again scheduled to play their postponed game with the Dissons F. C. on March 25 in the American cup series, provided their game in the national series is disposed of by that time.

New York, Wednesday, March 15.

I was hard for me to believe when I awoke yesterday morning that I had put back of me fourteen days of hard training and was starting on the fifteenth. I was glad there are only a few days more of work ahead of me. Training, like everything else, becomes rather monotonous, and the close approach of the Moran battle pleases me.

Following out the program my trainers arranged Sunday, I passed up road work and until I stop my work entirely I think I will only trot around the reservoir on alternate mornings.

The main thing for me to bring out in road work is that my wind is in great shape. While it is absolutely necessary to tune up the bellows to perfect condition, there is no occasion to do arduous running when perfection is reached. And when you train for a boxing match you must be well trained in the real boxing end of the game; otherwise all the superhuman wind powers in the world won't count for anything.

Perseverance Is the Very Best Rule of All.

This system follows out the real rule of life. If you devote all your energies to one particular undertaking you are bound to make a success of it. At the same time you must keep in touch with other matters, but a persistent drive at the one particular goal will force you to succeed.

It was shortly after 6 o'clock that I kicked the bedclothes off and began the day. I donned my gym suit and started off on my exercises.

After winding up the indoor training stunts I splashed around in the tub and then was treated to a massage. Monahan and Hemple worked on me harder than usual, for my body was heated and a good rub was needed to stave off catching cold.

This is another thing that must be remembered by those who exercise in the morning. Don't be too rash and hazardous in striking the cold air before the body has time to cool. A good rub after your bath is the best preventive known. All one requires to get the best results is a combination of alcohol and witch hazel.

Massage After Bath Is Proper Thing.

When the massage was over all hands togged up and made a concerted attack on the breakfast table. Not having indulged in road work, I did not eat too heartily, but stuck to the soft boiled eggs, a little fruit and milk.

Leaving the table my trainers and myself took a stroll along Riverside Drive, drinking in the fresh air. We didn't stay out too long, as the weather was far from inviting.

The entire morning was devoted to discussing the coming bout. The talk was along general lines, for it is impossible to plan out your rival's battle. You always know just what you are going to do, but don't know what the other fellow is going to pull. I passed up lunch, as my appetite wasn't anything worth talking about, and around 2 o'clock arrived at the Pioneer Club.

All of the time through the stunts with more vim and snap than ever before. I boxed seven rounds, but found out later that some of the rounds were stretched to four minutes. While boxing with Jack Dillon over three years ago I found out my chief rise and I felt like boxing away with full power. This was just the way I wanted to feel.

Champion Figures Himself on Edge.

The languid feeling that possessed me when I first started training has passed away. The steady, strenuous work has charged my body with vigor and determination. I feel like a champion. The few that saw me here could see that the three bouts weren't "circus" affairs.

Youssef Hussane then tugged and hustled me around for five minutes and added to the pleasure of the workout. After all the training was over, and I was bathed, rubbed and dressed, I was down fine enough to enter the ring.

When we reached the hotel I was hungry enough to eat everything in the cafe. But I put a bridle on my appetite and just ate enough to chase away the hunger. After lounging around for an hour, and then taking a short walk, I retired to my room, satisfied I had put in one of the best days of my training.

Two More Meets, Then Bingham Will Retire

Captain Bill Bingham of the Harvard track team will lay aside his indoor running shoes for all time after competing in the 600-yard race at Lawrence, his home town, next Monday night. Eddie Teschner, also a Lawrence product, will run in the 50-yard dash at the same meet.

Bingham will run in his first A. A. U. meet since entering Harvard, Saturday night, when he starts in the 600-yard run in the indoor championships in New York. Dave Caldwell, B. A. A., and Johnny Overton, Yale's captain, are both expected to start.

Willcox, the only other Harvard star, will show in the 300-yard run. One of his opponents will be Ted Meredith, Pennsylvania's star.

Boxing Gossip.

CHARLEY DESHLER of Cambridge is to be complimented on the way he is bringing Walter Butler, the Revere battler, to the fore.

* * *

UP to last Fall Butler was considered only a so-so glovesman at best. He was never able to beat George Alger, though tying him several times, and likewise lost to Al Thomas at the Arena.

* * *

BUT starting November last Butler, seldom showing less than once a week, has won all over New England, and judging by the great performance he pulled at the Hip, last night, when going on as a "sub" for Freddie Yelle against Frankie Mack, he's MADE.

* * *

SO, no wonder Deshler is all smiles today. Unable to get any Boston dates for his charge, whom he was confident would prove his class when the chance presented itself, Deshler looked the smaller New England cities, picking up small retainers and not doing any whimpering.

* * *

HE knew the chance would eventually come, and sure enough, it arrived last night.

* * *

BUTLER took on Mack on a minute's notice. Nor did he outweigh Frankie any, if at all. Mack couldn't get 134 or 2 pounds for Yelle. Making 136 at 5 is a snap for Butler.

* * *

MACK was all of 12½ if not 140 or 141. Butler was no more than 136, perhaps under that notch.

* * *

BUTLER went on, meeting the supposed best young "lightweight" in New England, though his left arm and right hand, nor to mention his left eye were damaged none or less in his recent bout with Harry Condon.

Gregg Is a Come-Back Carrigan Likes Bader

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 15.—There comes an end to all good things—the weather included. The World's Champions have had it so warm and sunny since they arrived here Sunday that they began to think they had left all bad, cold days behind somewhere east of Little Rock, which, by the way, is the place the cyclones stop at.

A period of three days in June temperature has put the pitchers and catchers in pretty good physical shape. There has been the usual lameness in legs, arms and back, and the boys are not quite so frisky about the hotel as they were Sunday; but aside from that they are as far along as any set of athletes could be under ideal conditions.

Manager Bill Carrigan has brought his warriors along slowly in point of strenuous work, cautioning them against getting loose, and has devoted much time to limbering up through the batting game route, than which there is none better. Bill believes in plenty of it and has taken as much himself as any of his men.

PITCHERS HELD IN CHECK.

The work of the pitchers has been more or less perfunctory, on account of the fact that Bill figures that the last week here will be time enough for them to cut loose.

The boys have all had a chance to see the ball pitched, and have taken the customary "spring swings." Some connected and some didn't. The latter was more often the case.

Among those who are swinging on the ball in most approved fashion are Janvrin and Carrigan. The others are hitting "lumpos" most of the time, but one must remember that the latter is composed of pitchers and catchers so far.

Shore takes a healthy swat at the ball, and "Babe" Ruth is not satisfied unless the ball he hits knocks a board off the centrefield fence, or goes over it. He is some "fingoe" hitter, and has had several of the pitchers running with their tongues out chasing them.

GREGG HERO OF CAMP.

As has been said, nothing in the way of a line on the new outfit has gained in such a short space of time, as the chance presented itself. Deshler has the smaller New England cities, picking up small retainers and not doing any whimpering.

* * *

HE knew the chance would eventually come, and sure enough, it arrived last night.

Pitchers working in the infield previous to the batting practice do not furnish a very inspiring sight, nor do catchers in a similar position impress any more than infielders and outfielders would at pitching and catching.

So you fans will have to be patient until the real work starts, and there are those spirited contests of regulars and second team which have just enough rivalry to make them worth something as a training stunt.

Up to the present time no one has offered prizes for the winners, nor do the men expect them. They are content to be satisfied with each other as if they were playing a regular schedule, and leave the Panama hats to those who do not wear the title, World's Champions.

CARRIGAN'S IDEAL PROGRAM.

The playing of these games, however, will come a little later. The boys will have to wait until the infielders and outfielders get their arms in shape to throw before it will be safe to start them. In the meantime Carrigan will continue his course of warm-ups, batting, pitching to the batters, the long hikes over the mountains and the hot baths at the end of the journey.

Very few of the boys have been in at the tables in the dining room for lunch, which is a good sign. Even the newcomers have caught the step of the more experienced, and are not of the "soup to nuts" variety.

Yesterday's work was done in a temperature of 68, with the sun obscured most of the time. The temperature falls sharply during the mounting climbing stunt, and there was a light shower around 4 o'clock. Today there is a somewhat threatening sky, but it is not bothering the boys.

BOOK A BENEFIT GAME.

Arrangements were perfected for an exhibition game to be played for the benefit of a local Catholic church, probably on the last Sunday of our stay here. The Cubs, Sox, Giants and Reds are in here Friday and will play an exhibition game for the benefit of the local B. P. O. E.

Hot Springs people are rather proud of the World's Champions, figuring that their two victories and their double World's Championship titles, caused the town to be named here, is a fine advertisement for the Springs.

Of course, the interest in the Springs is horse racing, but whenever the boys appear at the Spas or upon the streets the walks to the grounds and back they are greeted by the merchants as old friends and by the visitors as distinguished gentlement from Boston.

Next Monday, when Bill has his full squad present at the camp, he means to put them over the ground to the tune in the hand-car and bring them back in the same manner.

Moran Is Confident of Beating Willard

By FRANK MORAN,
Challenger for the World's Heavyweight Title.

NEW YORK, March 15.—My physical condition could not possibly be any better than it is just now, and to say that I am merely satisfied with it would be to convey an inadequate idea of how I feel.

Truth to tell, I do not believe that I ever felt as well as I do now.

My outdoor frolic in the snow at Saratoga, the fun I derived in ice boating, skating, snow shoveling, walking and running, and the good results of my exercises in this state of my training schedule I attribute to a disregard for the conditions I met with at Saratoga and a desire to absorb as much of the great outdoors as I possibly could during my stay.

Willie Lewis, my trainer, tells me that he has never seen me in better condition and health than right now, and Willie is in a position to know. He and I have been together for years in this country and Europe. He trained me for my bout with Jack Johnson in Paris and says I am in better shape now than I was then.

Everybody of judgment, I think, does not believe that the Johnson who met me in Paris was the same Johnson we met Jim Jeffries at Reno in 1910. And there are a lot of boxing fans of the same opinion. Jack Johnson was in his prime when I took him through a twenty-round bout. I doubt very much if he was "right" when Willard beat him.

FEELS HE HAS IMPROVED.

This is an angle you ought to consider. As soon as one has said, "I am in condition," he has said all that is necessary to convey the impression that he is in the best of shape. Condition is a relative term. Every boxer is in condition corresponding to what race track followers call past performance. Willard has undoubtedly improved since his bout with Carl Morris—I won't deny that—but I, too, have improved since my bout with Johnson. I want my friends to remember that.

In accordance with my modified training schedule, as outlined by Willie Lewis, I put in a light day. I went out on the roads with Lewis in the morning and covered six miles. I felt like a young sixteen, but Willie wouldn't permit me.

I stayed away from the gym in the afternoon and did not touch a boxing glove. But I shall make up for the rest Willie imposed on me by backing each of my sparring partners this afternoon. And, believe me, I am going to sail into them good and proper when Willie loosens up the reins.

JOE EAGAN FOULED IN GO WITH NOTTER

Albany, N. Y., March 15.—Joe Eagan, the South Boston welterweight, was given the decision over Frankie Notter of Brooklyn here last night in four rounds on a foul. Eagan gave Notter a good lacing in the first two rounds. After Notter had hit Eagan three times in the fourth the referee ordered him from the ring. Eagan was showing good form and will be put on with Ted (Kid) Lewis on one of the April dates.

RING RESULTS

Manchester, N. H., March 15.—Young Lavigne of Manchester and Johnny Russell of New York went fifteen fast rounds to a draw. Jack Smith and Harry A. Chung of Salem won from Tommy West of Manchester.

South Bethlehem, Pa., March 15.—Tommy Malmore stopped "Kid" Curley of Buffalo in a ten-round bout.

Butler Hit of Hip. Bill Boxes Draw with Mack

WALTER BUTLER, the game little Revere battler, went on in Fred die Yelle's place against Frankie Mack, the so-called Beachmont Bearcat, in the main event at the Hippodrome last night and the show for the Armory A. A. management, received a draw decision from Referee Phil Powers, and today is basking in the exact center of sport dom's spotlight.

Butler and Mack were brought out together by Charley Madden down at Beachmont. While Mack was the first to achieve renown, Butler has always had the hunch he had it on him, and would show it when he got the chance. If Mack and Yelle had gone to the post last night, per program, and Mack had been the victor, Charley Deakler, Butler's manager, planned posting $500 today with the sporting editor of the AMERICAN in support of a challenge to the Beachmont boy.

Forced to cancel the windup event with Tommy McFarland in Waltham Monday night, owing to having a very lame left arm, a bad left ear and a battered-up right hand, due to all his battling of late weeks, Butler grabbed at the chance to take Yelle's place and have it out with his old foe.

They say, nuts Mack, temporarily, at least out of business.

He the says Dave Drucker Butler Mack has been a setup all Winter. In Charlestown, and the Armory A. A. matches he was no partner to the mix, to the Arlington for its customary like summer outdoor season, was not upon Jarvis, he signed on of supposedly at one the New England negro girls promised, and when it came time to box Cozy White, Benny Leonard, Matt Wells, Lew Hunter or any of the rest of the 147 pound class in town it would have the right kind of starter to nom nate.

MACK NOT A LIGHTWEIGHT

Mack proved last night he has graduated into the welterweight division, and for the time being is not to be considered a lightweight as Yelle was easier on opponent Mack, to make 135 pounds, as he did for the bout. That was definite, fullfledged middle Brockton-Weston style.

Mack even failed to make that notch, and Eddie Moore, Yelle's manager, is going to be severely fined for failing to allow Yelle to start. Yelle won the New England title when he defeated genial Matty Moore down in Thornton R. I., and in the Matty Moore contest Butler he would be a chump to take a chance on having Frankie fall off his scoring streak by going against a welterweight, when signed for 135 pounds, and then letting the weights be juggled to as far as 147, three pounds over the limit extra. Yelle did them practically at ringside time.

There would have been nothing doing, if Butler had not agreed to fill the breach

BUTLER SHOWS HE'S GAME.

What's more, Butler was not in trim the fact that he had cap eled a sure soft date the night before proves he wasn't "right." Still, he grabbed at the chance to go on in a whirling event in Boston and show the people who have been reading of his many triumps in the "hayseed" that he's no dasser.

Butler gave the show; Walter was every bit as good as Mack from first to last, during the life of their twelve-round set, which, be it known, was brimful of action and one of the best of the season, and, when it was over, Referee Powers adjudged honors even-steven.

Powers couldn't possibly have decided Mack's favor, as Frankie was clearly outhustled and outfought in the last three rounds, and was never much better than on even terms with Butler

The whole show was all to the merry; in fact, the club's banner offering of the entire Winter. In the curtain-raiser Joe Sousa should have whipped George Brooks, but after getting off front seemed adverse to beating Brooks up as was the case last spring and pulled it out.

DONOVAN KEEPS ON HIGH.

Johnny Donovan, the promising South Boston featherweight, showed to good advantage in the semi-final, when he outpointed Joe Stecher, the Arlington boy, in the six-round go. Donovan has been showing good work of late, but on the whole was outpointed by Stecher. The semi-windup was a waste of time. It proved together Jim Mahoney, the burlesque heavyweight king of the amateurs, and George Rodgers, the Dublin Canadian boxer. Referee Powers put up for an award that Mahoney won by a shade. It proved to be a unanimous decision for the Dublin boy.

THE CHECKED belt gives the style to the frock of linen. The deep pointed collar and cuffs are edged with Irish lace. The tunic is hand embroidered and the edge may be scalloped.

A YOUTHFUL yet "grown up" suit of heavy blue serge or epongé, lined with terra-cotta silk and bound with cloth of that shade, would be a delight to any little girl.

THIS Spring coat would be very smart made of beige homespun and white broadcloth. The raglan sleeves are especially good for children's coats; the closed neck is another admirable feature.

TAN linen is used for this cunning little frock with machine stitching and tiny buttons for trimming. The little collar is made of white linen, and the belt may be white if contrast is desired.

TAKE A FIRM STAND

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been married a little over a year and got to be most extravagant in my ideas. I am an expert cook and my boss husband was willing to [illegible] only a little to teach her [illegible] he was [illegible]

DON'T waste your [illegible] Every man, if worth [illegible] makes [illegible] like that would not go on in their [illegible] and selfish course in making you his servant at the [illegible] Don't appeal to the girl or to the girl's parents, but simply demand that your husband make a choice and give up either you or the "other woman." If you are to assist in the work of building your family and are to keep your home, too, the least return that can be made you by the man who is not able to take care of you, financially, is love and devotion.

TRY WORK AT HOME

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-five years of age and am very plain looking. I am not very popular and I find much leisure time through the days which I am at a loss to utilize to good advantage. As I do the housekeeping here I feel that I could do some sort of home work during my spare time. I can sew well and like to write. If you would be so kind as to inform me through the paper as to how I might secure home work you will greatly oblige.

A LONESOME STRANGER

IF you sew well enough, why not attempt to do home dressmaking? If you have neither the time nor the inclination for this, you might attempt to secure a little fancy [illegible] from the shops or you might make cake cookies [illegible] and try to place them through [illegible] Woman's Exchange.

DON'T THINK—ACT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am seventeen and find time hanging heavily on my hands. I have been graduated from public and commercial school, but cannot find a position, because every where I go they all want experienced girls. My mother and brother say at me because I don't work and pay back for the schooling I had. But what am I to do? I want to work. There is nothing I can find to do but read and think, think, think and it is driving me mad. If something doesn't turn up soon, I feel that I'll do something that I will regret all my life.

DESPONDENT.

GO to some good employment bureau and register there. Then make up your mind to start on low salary, if need be, and to work up until merit brings you in more money. Don't get morbid and think in desperation, but set about with a firm determination to secure work as soon as may be. There is nothing desperate in your situation, the world is full of people who have far more serious troubles to bear.

An Opportunity for the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange

THE Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange has elected a worthy successor to former President John J. Martin, in the person of Mr. George F. Washburn. Mr. Washburn is a progressive man, with the courage of his convictions.

The Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange has done a great deal of good in this community. It has shown courage in dealing with public questions. Its attitude toward the railroad monopoly, which was withering up New England, did a great deal to strengthen the arms of the Boston AMERICAN and Mr. Louis D. Brandeis in the struggle which this newspaper and Mr. Brandeis made for seven years against that monopoly.

To the new president and to the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange the AMERICAN commends a careful scrutiny of the tax question in this State. The Massachusetts Tax Association has lately been indulging in a suspicious activity at the State House.

In the future the great struggle for justice is coming more and more on the question of taxation. It is by taxation that we are going to undo the wrongs which public negligence, corrupt, cowardly and slavish judges, legislators and public servants generally, have wrought in this country. It is by taxation that the dangerous private fortunes, accumulated by chicane and lawlessness, will be reduced to safe proportions.

In Massachusetts we are undergoing an important change in our taxation reform. The beneficiaries of special privilege, AS USUAL, are well organized. Those who want only justice, AS USUAL, are not organized at all. We are slow to learn the lesson that though "truth crushed to earth will rise again," yet if truth would go prepared always by a proper organization behind it, it would not ever be crushed to earth.

This Tax Association needs watching. It needs watching particularly by the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange.

Longfellow's Birthplace Should Be Preserved

IT is a matter of surprise that there should be any danger of the loss of Longfellow's birthplace in Portland, Me. Longfellow was one of our great men and great poets who lived and shone when the lights of literature in America were brighter than in any other period of our history. He lived also during a critical period of the nation's life and he contributed greatly to the righteous cause.

But it is not a past debt which we owe to Longfellow's memory. It is a continuing obligation, because his poems are read and enjoyed as much today as ever.

Keeping alive the memory of our distinguished dead and keeping alive the idea that they were real personalities, and not mere abstractions, is a great aid to patriotism. It helps also to stimulate the ambition of young men and women and to make them realize that the true glory lies in another direction than in the mere accumulation of money. It is true that Longfellow, after he acquired distinction, became well-to-do through a fortunate and accidental speculation. But few ever knew it and still less recall it.

It would be difficult to imagine a more profitable enterprise for the city of Portland than to maintain, under the most attractive circumstances, Longfellow's birthplace. Portland is one of the most beautiful little cities in the world. She is remarkably attractive to travelers, and nothing attracts travels like spots of historical interest. A business man would spend one hundred times more to advertise his business less effectively than it would cost the city of Portland for Longfellow's birthplace, with all the advertising it gives to Portland.

Good for the License Commission

THE License Commission of Boston has performed a signal public service in refusing to renew the license of Maxim's Hotel on Harrison avenue. The character of that place did not warrant any public recognition whatever.

The fact that the place did not appear to prosper is good evidence of the moral fibre of the community. There are other places which are bordering on the Maxim style and with which the License Commission will undoubtedly deal severely if evidence can be obtained against them.

Reverence

By Charles F. Thwing, LL. D.

President Western Reserve University

REVERENCE is both a mood and an act—at once a disposition and a deed. It represents the solid and sane, the large-minded, the lasting in life and civilization. It is akin to seriousness without sombreness, to respect without subservicncy, to affection without emotionalism. But in life's music it strikes a deeper note than seriousness, a more historic note than respect, and a broader note than affection. It reveals the fundamental religiousness of man's nature. It represents a real strength of manhood, though the superficial interpreter may believe it stands for weakness.

Reverence is a virtue which Americans lack. The fact is evident enough. But be it said the manifestations of the lack should not blind us to the fact that hidden deep down in the American heart is a mighty sense of reverence. Like our Monroeism, it exists, though we dislike to show it. The causes of the lack of reverence are somewhat obscure.

One reason of this lack may be found to lie in the historical freshness and newness of America. Henry James, in his "Life of Hawthorne," says:

"History, as yet, has left in the United States but so thin and implicable a deposit that we very soon touch the hard substratum of nature, and nature herself, in the Western world, has the peculiarity of seeming rather crude and immature. The very air looks new and young; the light of the sun seems fresh and innocent, as if it knew as yet but few of the secrets of the world and none of the weariness of shining; the vegetation has the appearance of not having reached its majority. A large juvenility is stamped upon the face of things, and in the vividness of the present, the past, which died so young and had time to produce so little, attracts but scanty attention."

Such a country does not naturally awaken reverence. Antiquity always quickens respect in a soul at all devoted to life's deeper things. Even a thoughtless spirit could hardly be other than reverential while standing among the tombs of Egyptian kings and queens. America is new and lacks background.

A further reason for the lack of reverence may be found in the fact that we Americans are usually in a hurry. "There is so much to do and the time is so short," Cecil Rhodes said dying. "We wish to do all our work, and all the work of America in a small part of a single generation. Reverence represents repose. It stands for leisure and willingness to wait.

To this sense of haste may be added the lack of a sense of relations. We are prone to see one thing, and one thing only. We do one thing, and one thing only. We live in the present, which we believe to be eternal. We live in a hemisphere which we fondly imagine is a sphere. Europe is to many outgrown. Its shores were abandoned by our ancestry. The Far East is not. We never have seen it. It is outlandish, anyway.

There are, however, a few occasions or conditions which should quicken the sense of reverence. One occasion is the cradle and the grave. The beginning of life and the end of life cannot but touch the deep feeling of loving respect. Reverence easily clasps hands with both hope and memory. Between the rocking cradle and the silent coffin, the one occasion calling out reverence is marriage. The marriage altar is the very fountain-head of civilization. Into it all streams pour, and from it all streams issue forth.

The church is also an institution and a historic force calling out the great sentiment. Whatever name a church bears, it quickens the deepest feeling of humanity and of the individual. The Protestant should worship in St. Peter's, in Rome, and the Roman Catholic should be able to say his prayers in St. Paul's, in London.

Neither is to to be forgotten that all historic monuments should be used to lift humanity into the same great mood of reverence. The simple slab at Cambridge beneath the now-dying elm, where Washington took command of the American forces; the shaft at Bunker Hill, French's minuteman on the banks of the Concord River, are memorials standing within a few miles of each other and erected for a common purpose, which gives proof of the great sentiment of reverence lying deeply hidden in the heart of the individual and of the race. We Americans are far off from the world's historical Odes and movements. For that very reason we should use all memorials possible for awakening and making more intense the great quality of reverence.

Dementia-Four-Rooms-and-a-Bath

Dorothy Dix Characterizes the Ailment That Makes Women Morbid and Hysterical

By Dorothy Dix

A FAMOUS neurologist has recently asserted that the reason so many city women go insane is because of the restricted space in which they live, and that there is a form of mental aberration that may well be called dementia-four-rooms-and-a-bath.

He says that hundreds of thousands of women spend their lives cooped up in a few small rooms, about which they wander like animals in a cage. Generally the rooms are ugly and unattractive; often they are dark; nearly always their windows offer no view except a squalid street, or fire escapes and clothes lines. In time her environment gets on the woman's nerves. She becomes morbid, hysterical and often goes raving mad.

Heretofore it has always been an insoluble enigma why the average wife and mother is always in the doleful dumps and disgruntled with her job. Go into store or office, and the women employes are alert, cheerful, bright-eyed, smiling. Go into a house and the woman who is running it has drooping shoulders, a sagged down mouth, and is a bundle of complaints about husband and children, and if she has to do her own cooking she regards herself as a martyr.

The Greatest Career

Yet housework is not half as exhausting labor as standing all day behind a counter or bent over a typewriter. Moreover, to make a real home is the finest career any woman can aspire to, and brings the greatest reward.

Why, then, should the domestic woman not be as happy in her work and bring the same philosophy to bear on it that the business woman does to hers? Simply because the domestic woman lives shut up in such a little space that she has lost her perspective. She has become unable to see the true values of life and to judge things at their proper worth. She's gone loco, as they say in the West.

And that this is true is proven by the fact that you can cure, temporarily at least, the most querulous and nagging wife and mother by sending her away from home for a while.

It is the woman who has the four-room-and-a-bath type of mind who has a mania about trifles. She can't see beyond the end of her nose.

The Deity, Triviality

Her molehills are all mountains. Every disappointment is a tragedy. She has hysterics if a new dress is botched in the making. She calls in her friends to weep and lament with her if the cook leaves. She bores you to death by recounting every detail of her family history.

And it's the woman with the four-room-and-a-bath mind who is the grinding family tyrant who keeps husband and children under her thumb. She's been shut up in a cage herself until the mere thought of any one having any individual personal liberty fills her with terror. She is confident that if she permitted her husband to take a single drop of liquor he would become a drunken sot. She is sure that if she didn't keep him tied to her apron strings he would be a Don Juan, and that only the knowledge that her eagle eye is upon him keeps him from philandering with every good-looking woman he meets.

It takes the woman who has lived in the big world, who has handled big affairs, who has had to give and take, and been taught to respect other people's rights, to be broad minded and broad visioned, and above the little meannesses and tyrannies characteristic of her sex.

The Saner Attitude

It is often observed that the business woman is far more philosophic and placid than the domestic woman, that she does not worry over trifles as the domestic woman does, that she does not gossip, nor is she catty or full of spiteful jealousy to other women; but on the contrary that she is a lover of her sex and invariably the first to help a sister in trouble and the last to believe evil of her.

This is not because the business woman is naturally a better woman than the domestic woman, but merely that she is saner. She lives in the boundless outer world instead of being confined within the narrow limits of a family circle, and so has escaped the dreadful malady of dementia-four-rooms-and-a-bath.

It is significant that almost all of the most objectionable feminine faults are the direct results of the old policy of keeping women shut up in the home. This has produced certain abnormities of character that we have spoken of politely as the "feminine temperament," or "feminine peculiarities," or a "woman's whims," but which, in reality, are just plain bughouse.

They are dementia-four-rooms-and-a-bath, and the sure cure for it is for women to get out of the home and do their share of the world's work.

Flashes on the Screen

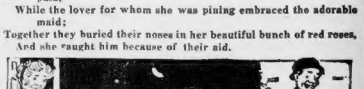
His Money and His Roses

HE brought her a bunch of red roses, their fragrance was pungent and rare—
A fragrance that tickled their noses; she fastened a bud in her hair;
The price they had cost he gave gladly; he loved her, as one might say, madly,
Because she was youthful and fair.

"SWEET roses!" she said, "I adore them!" He trembled with joy that was new;
On her bosom she fastened and wore them; he lingered an hour or two,
Feeling proud of the hit he was making; then, because her poor head began aching,
He sighed a few times and withdrew.

HE went to his bed without dining, because of the price he had paid,
While the lover for whom she was pining embraced the adorable maid;
Together they buried their noses in her beautiful bunch of red roses,
And she taught him because of their aid.



A Case of Necessity

Married men, as a rule, are more successful than bachelors, but the bachelors claim this is due to necessity rather than to ability.

Our Old Friend Legion

"Pa, it says here, 'His name was legion.' Is there anybody now whose name is legion?"

"Oh, yes. The foremost living war correspondent."
